NOTORIOUS GANG LEADER HANGED

ADDRESSES FEATURE OF BAPTIST CONVENTION

ARMY OF 20,000 MEN DESTROYED IN FIGHTING

ENROLLMENT HAS PASSED FAR BEYOND THREE THOUSAND

ELECTION OF OFFICERS AND AWARDING OF TROPHIES AND BANNERS TONIGHT

With the enrollment figures reaching far above the 3,000 mark, and additional delegates arriving for the closing sessions in large numbers, the final day of the third annual state Sunday school convention of the Texas Baptists was featured by a number of inspirational addresses.

Awards of banners and trophies will be made at the evening session Thursday, with the election of officers also scheduled at the final session. The selection of the next meeting place will be made during the afternoon and announced at the evening service.

Following the morning song service under the direction of Robert H. Coleman, Dr. Wiley B. Glass, who has spent more than 25 years in China mission fields, discussed "The Religious Situation in China."

Introducing the subject, the speaker declared that the religious situation followed the political situation very closely and suffered from all its complexities. Protestant mission work has been under way in China for 121 years, and has had more to discourage it there than in any place except in the Mohamedan countries.

400,000 Christians.

As a means of illustrating the size of the task in China, Dr. Glass stated that at present there were 400,000 Christians in China which made the proportion about one in 1900. There are no limits to the possibilities.

The Seventy-Five Million campaign furnished a large number of badly needed buildings, according to the speaker, and these have been filled, and the enrollment in all of the schools is limited only by the capacity.

"I wish that the people at home would co-operate and make it possible for the missionaries to return to their posts and remain there. Financial conditions are not all that trouble the missionaries for many of the uncomfortable situations in which they find themselves are caused by the people at home," Dr. Glass said.

The Chinese student movement was discussed by the missionary, pointing out that it has seriously hampered the work of the Christian propaganda but that the Protestant movement is beginning to forge ahead at this time, and only a handful of workers remain on the field.

"If a dying world cannot look to America today with all its wealth for help, when can it expect aid. With the many financial campaigns of the church, the world expected the church to ask for a cross instead it asked for comfort and cushions.

Missionary Receipts Drop.

"Missionary receipts are far less today than five years ago, and they are less even now than they were last year," concluded the missionary as he made a plea for the incorporation of a live missionary spirit in the Sunday schools.

Miss Mattie C. Leatherwood of Nashville was the second speaker of the morning with a message on the work among the elementary grades. Pointing out that the child's climb was from weakness to power, she emphasized the importance of the proper surroundings and instruction in the early years.

Declaring that help must be giv-

Girls Demand Be Told About Life In All Phases

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 19.—(AP)—A demand that they be told the "facts of life" which their mothers are too reticent to tell them, was made by a group of girl reserves in a discussion with adult secretaries, committee women and advisers at the biennial national Y. W. C. A. convention here yesterday.

They came from San Francisco and other coast cities and they declared they had been brought up "like Topsy," left to find out essential facts as they might. They demanded sex education to permit them to form their own conclusions and decisions in what they termed "this frank and modern age."

CONFESSION MADE BY OKLAHOMAN NOT BELIEVED CORRECT

PROBE OF NEW ANGLE TO NOTED MURDER CASE, HOWEVER, BE MADE

SOMMERVILLE, N. J., April 19.—(AP)—Although disinclined to believe the confession of a prisoner in the El Reno, Okla., jail that he was the slayer of the Rev. Edward Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills near here in September 1922, authorities today prepared to make a thorough investigation.

Elwin F. Allen, 28 years old, held in El Reno on a charge of burglary, said he killed the couple with the aid of his common law wife for $7000 which was paid him by an Elizabeth, N. J., dentist, who, he says, was a relative of the slain man's widow.

Prosecutor Francis J. Bergen, who pressed the investigation of the murder which led to arrest, trial and acquittal of Mrs. Frances Hall, her two brothers and a cousin said he did not place much credence in the confession but would make inquiries.

Authorities pointed out several discrepancies in the confession. Allen said he had killed the two in 1921 whereas they were killed on September 14, 1922.

TWO NOTORIOUS MEXICAN BURGLARS KILLED BY POLICE

MEXICO CITY, April 19.—(AP)—Agustin Labanzar and Alberto Aguirre Benitez, notorious burglars were shot and killed by police shortly before midnight. The officers said the men tried to escape as they were being taken under escort to one of the suburbs where the burglars had promised to turn over to the authorities booty they had hidden there.

Military authorities announced today that Angel Galarza and Estanislao Marquez Rocha, two members of the band of highwaymen led by Maximiliano Vigueras which ahs been holding up automobiles on the Cuernavaca and Puebla highways, have promised to reveal where thier arms were cached in the mountains. The men were arrested with four others near the village of Chalco.

Lockhart School Superintendent Dies

LOCKHART, April 19.—(AP)—William D. Notley, 45, superintendent of Lockhart public schools, died here yesterday of a disease of the stomach. He was a widely-known educator, having had charge of the schools at Brenham, Corpus Christi and Del Rio. He recently had been re-elected for the third year as superintendent of the Lockhart schools. His widow and two children survive.

NORTHERN FORCE LOST HEAVILY IN NEW OFFENSIVE

CHRISTIAN GENERAL ALLIED WITH NATIONALISTS FRUSTRATES DRIVE

SHANGHAI, China, April 19.—(AP)—Destruction of a northern army of 20,000 men in unusually fierce fighting during the past few days near Yenchowfu, Southern Shantung, is reported in dispatches from Peking.

An advance made by Feng Yu-Hsiang, once known as the Christian general and now allied with the Nationalists, has completely frustrated an offensive launched by the Northern General Sun-Chuan-Fang, governor of Shantung, which had for its object cutting the Lunghai railway at Kweitch and thence turning the left flank of Chiang Kai-Shek, commander-in-chief of the Nationalist army.

The result of this battle was the destruction of Sun's armies of 20,000 men and the occupation of Tsining just southwest of Yenchowfu by Feng Yu-Hsiang. The debacle forced Marshall Chang Tsung Chang, chief Northern general now in the field, to fall back on Yenchowfu and ultimately to seek to concentrate his forces at Tianfu 40 miles south of Tsinan.

Feng Yu-Hsiang meanwhile is advancing north along both banks of the Yellow river and the Northern troops have evacuated Changte Ho and Tamingfu.

As an example of the ferocity with which the struggle has been conducted ever since the Nationalist opened the spring drive on the Northern capital, reliable foreign sources state that Chiang Kai-Shek has last 20,000 men, 2,500 of whom were killed, including one general, and three colonels in 36 hours of fighting which ended in the capture of Licheno.

Japs to Send More Troops.

TOKYO, April 19.—(AP)—Because of the increasing seriousness of the situation in Shantung since the Chinese Nationalists started their spring drive, the Japanese capinet today decided to send aditional troops there.

Three companies will be sent to Tsinan from Tientsin an a mixed brigade of 5,000 men will be sent from Kuamoto. A telegraph corps and a railroad detachment will also be sent to Tsingtao for the protection of Japanese lives and property.

SPOILS OF WAR AND 7 PRISONERS TAKEN BY PATROL

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 19.—(AP)—A quantity of dynamite, six rifles and seven rebels have been captured by a patrol of the Nicaraguan national guard under Captain Le Page Cronmiller, Jr., of Laurel, Mid., near Silencio, northeast of Quaiali.

Advices to marine headquarters telling of the capture did not state whether it occurred after a fight. Headquarters believed, however, that the patrol surprised the insurgents and captured them without a skirmish. There were no national guard casualties.

Other advices received at headquarters indicated that Carmen Torres, one of rebel General Augustino Sandino's leaders, had died from wounds received in a fight near Murra a week ago.

Two Louisiana Prisoners Taken

BATON ROUGE, La., April 19.—(AP)—Cleveland Owen, noted New Orleans convict, and his companion, J. C. Anderson of Caddo Parish, who escaped Saturday night from the Louisiana penal farm at Angola, were captured this morning at 3 o'clock six miles from Centerville, Miss., according to word received at Angola by Alex Bryan, warden of the penitentiary. The two men are now being returned to Angola.

AT WAR ON PROHIBITION

The long-range debate between Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York (left), and William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, continues, with the latter declaring the one fundamental issue to be: "Shall a State be permitted to disregard any portion of the Constitution which it elects not to obey?" The Governor had asserted the Volstead Act was a part of the laws of New York state, and no further enforcement laws were necessary there. Said Mr. McAdoo: "Police enforcement is the principle and normal function of the State governments. Deprived of the effective co-operation of the police of the States, the amendment becomes a nullity. This is what happened in New York and Maryland."

Quakes Causing Panics In Southeastern Bulgaria As Many Deaths Are Reported

SOFIA, Bulgaria, April 19—(AP)—Ten dead and about fifty injured were the casualties reported today from the city of Philipopolis which was rocked by a series of violent earthquakes last night.

SOFIAA, Bulgaria, April 19.—(AP)—Southeastern Bulgaria was panic stricken today after a series of earthquakes which have been shaking the region since Saturday. It was feared that the quake which struck Sofia, Philipopolis, and the entire area between Sofia and Tchirpan was more disastrous than that of Saturday which resulted in 26 deaths.

At Philipopolis a number of large buildings collapsed. Fires raged in various parts of the city. Those inhabitants whose homes had been left standing feared to re-enter them lest additional shocks bring the walls tumbling about their heads. Panic stricken, they remained out of doors.

The earthquake, damaging the electric works, plunged the city into darkness and this added to the terror of the inhabitants.

Three distinct shocks were felt at Sofia. The people, in fear, immediately left their homes and most of them spent the night in the streets. Brief advices from Belgrade, Jugoslavia, and Bucharest, Rumania, said that the tremors were also felt there and caused alarm.

Advices from Haskovo said there was considerable damage there, but details were lacking.

RECORD APRIL COLD.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 19.—(AP)—Record cold weather for April was reported generally in North Dakota today. Fessenden and Crosby, N. D., reported 3 degrees below zero, while other cities reported around zero figures.

FOOD SHORTAGE AND INFLUENZA OUTBREAK IN LAKE SUPERIOR

EFFORTS TO REACH ISLAND FROM MAINLAND PROVEN UNSUCCESSFUL

ASHLAND, Wis., April 19.—(AP)—Seven hundred inhabitants of Madeline Island, only six miles from the Wisconsin mainland in Lake Superior, are living on short rations and fighting influenza as efforts to give them succor go forward here.

Although it is only a few short miles from the Island to Bayfield, the nearest mainland point, efforts to reach Madeline have been balked by a field of breaking ice. Islanders, at the risk of their lives, have attempted to reach the mainland and food, but have been turned back by the treacherous ice field.

Meat, flour and staples have been exhausted. Canned goods are the only food supply, and these are near exhaustion.

The influenza outbreak was described as not serious, relatives and neighbors caring for the 20 cases reported. The services of a physician, however, have been urged.

A government packet sent out by customs officers failed to reach the island yesterday, but another attempt was planned.

Named Member of Textile Commission

AUSTIN, April 19.—(AP)—T. A. Kincaid of Ozana, president of the State Sheep and Goat Raisers association, has been appointed to membership on the State Textile commission by Governor Moody.

The commission was created to encourage textile industries to locate in Texas.

MUCH LIQUOR TAKEN BY SHERIFF'S FORCE THURSDAY MORNING

TRUCK TRANSPORTING CORN WHISKEY BROKE DOWN NEAR ZION'S REST

One of the largest liquor catches in recent years was made at an early hour Thursday morning by the sheriff's department when more than 200 gallons of corn liquor was confiscated near Zion's Rest. Virgil Williamson has been arrested and lodged in the Navarro county jail charged by complaint before Justice of the Peace Sam B. Jordan with violation of the prohibition laws and later made bond in the sum of $750 to await the action of the grand jury.

Officers stated that the liquor was en route from Freestone county to Fort Worth and the truck broke down. Some of the whiskey had been transferred to a wagon and taken a short distance. It was stated that originally there were 226 gallons but some of it was broken when the truck broke down.

The entire vestibule of the county jail is lined with sacks and cases of the liquor, all of which is in half gallon fruit jars. Jailer Clyde Wilkes stated early Thursday morning that he had not had time to label and count the whiskey.

Officers in the case were Deputy Sheriffs J. M. Westbrooks, Clyde Wilkes and Walter Hayes and Sheriff Wilson.

A long vigil was held by the officers before the man arrested returned to the scene of the wreck at an early hour Thursday morning, it was announced at the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Wilson was en route to Waxahachie when he discovered the truck and he immediately sent his deputies on the case.

FATE OF NAVARRO COUNTY ATTORNEY TO BE WITH JURY

By WARD LUSK,
(Daily Sun Special Correspondent.)

WAXAHACHIE, April 19.—(AP)—Barring unforeseen delays, the fate of L. J. Woods, whose ouster trial has been in progress in district court here for nearly three weeks, will be in the hands of the jury at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Argument was still under way at the noon adjournment at which time Richard Mays completed his hour and a half speech.

W. A. Tarver spoke for the prosecution yesterday afternoon, and he was followed at 7:30 in the only night session held thus far, by Gus Mays for the defense, who used an hour and a half. the remaining time was split between Allie Clark of the attorney general's department and county attorney A. D. Emerson of Ellis. At 9 a. m. today Joe Simkins for the defense spoke 45 minutes and he was followed by Beauford Jester. Dick Mays used the remainder of the morning. Yet to speak in the remaining 3 1-2 hours to begin at 1:30 p. m. are Bowd Farrar, who will close for the defense, and Joe Brown and John Sharp for the state. Sharp will close, it was announced, but it was said that Defendant Woods probably will not address the jury.

Court fans predicted an early verdict, expressing the belief that not more than an hour would be required to answer the sixteen questions. In this case the jury answers the questions and Judge Ball will pass upon whether Woods should be removed.

After it was seen that attorneys could not complete their exceptions to the judge's original draft of the charge to the jury, no session of the L. J. Woods ouster trial was held Wednesday morning and Judge ball adjourned until 3 p. m.

When court reconvened, word had spread that argument was about to begin and every seat in the court room was taken. After several other preliminaries, the charge was read which includes 16 of the plaintiff's 29 allegations that Woods "not only conspired with W. Lindsay Bibb in permitting large attorney's fees and defeating justice," but that the defendant "wilfully, negligently and corruptly failed to place all evidence at his command before the grand juries in violation of his oath of office."

The counts taken up in the charge were: Dee Molloy, Jean Molloy, and Golda Fay Smith, liquor cases; Clarence Burleson, stolen car case; Byron Franklin, swindling case; Chas Fields, automobile transaction in which the county attorney is alleged to have represented Fields; the J. I. Brown-Zelvin Jones car case; the H. P. May indictment; the Joe Sparks case; the Abe Levine gaming business; the Bus Solomon, Gus Collins and Steve Shafer liquor cases; the resigning of V. McMurray as deputy sheriff; the Sallie Price assault to murder case, and the 29th count, a general charge of collusion between Bibb and Woods.

After reading the charge, Judge Ball defined the words, "malice, corruptly and wilfully" as contained in the document, and said that the jury will study each count, finally voting "yes" or "no." The judge's decision as to removal of Woods will be determined after reading how the questions are answered.

Following delivery of the charge a short conference of attorneys was held to determine amount of time to be allotted each side for argument, Judge Ball announcing that five would be given each side for that purpose. After that announcement, W. A. Tarver led for the state.

It was expected that four would speak on each side and that the case would go to the jury late Thursday.

Wealthy Eastern Capitalist Will Develop Island

PORT ARANSAS, April 19.—(AP)—Gail Borden Munsill, millionaire eastern sportsman and grandson of the late Gail Borden, inventor of the process for condensing milk, announced Wednesday that he would develop the industrial, commercial and resort possibilities of Mustang Island, off the coast here, to the limit.

As president of the Aransas Holding Company, Mr. Munsill has acquired about 600 acres on Mustang Island near the government channel and opposite Harbor Island, where the Humble Pipe Line Company is building its oil terminal and where the Monnolith interests will shortly build a shell cement plant.

CHICAGO POLICEMAN KILLED SHORT TIME AFTER GOING ON JOB

CHICAGO, April 19. (AP)—Less than an hour after he began his tour of duty at midnight, Policeman Emil Shogran, 34, was shot dead by one of two negroes whom he and Sergeant John Shortall of the detective bureau squad sought to question.

As Shogran fell, Sergt. Shortall drew his pistol and engaged in a running fire with the two negroes who fled through an alley, the sergeant mortally wounded Robert Joseph Copps, 32, the other engro.

Shogran leaves a widow and Nash, 35, and later shot, fatally, three small children

CORRECTION.

City Policeman Claude Patterson called at the Sun office Thursday and stated there was an error in the report of his testimony in the Woods ouster suit carried in the Sun Tuesday.

Mr. Patterson stated he said: "That I had known Miss Jarnigan for about four years. Also I did not state there were two Joe Sparks in Corsicana. I said there were two Sparks in Corsicana connected with liquor cases but one of them was a white man and the other a negro."

NOTORIOUS GANGSTER DEBONAIR TO LAST AND SMILED TO CROWD

BENTON, Ills., April 19.—(AP) Charles Birger, notorious Southern Illinois gang leader, was hanged at 9:52 a m. today for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City.

Birger was pronounced dead four minutes later. Nearly 500 spectators were crowded in the stockade.

Erect and nonchalant, almost debonair, Birger walked to his death. The procession emerged from the jail at 9:50 a. m., headed by Sheriff James Pritchard.

Birger was accompanied by Rabbi J. R. Mazur of East St. Louis and several deputy sheriffs. He moved at an easy pace, stopping to shake hands with several persons on the way through the stockade to the gallows, a distance of 100 feet.

The condemned man mounted the steps. Smiling, he pointed a finger at some man in the crowd and waived his hand. Phil Hanna, volunteer hangman, who has participated in 52 previous executions, stepped up to him while the Rabbi read a prayer. They shook hands and conversed for a few seconds.

Birger nodded and closed his eyes an instant. Quickly the black cap was slipped over his head. Hanna stepped up and adjusted the noose. He stepped back and the trap was sprung.

Birger died without confessing his guilt other than to admit he was an accessory after the fact in the Adams murder.

On the way to the gallows Birger had stopped to thank the wife of Jailer Lovan for her kindness to him. As he mounted the scaffold he said loudly:

"Beautiful world."

BENTON, Ill., April 19.—(AP)—Crowds of curious thronged Benton today for the hanging of Charley Birger, the coal belt gang leader.

Several hundred guards were deputized by Sheriff Pritchard to keep order and prevent violence which had been threatened in letters to him and to the trial judge, Charles E. Miller.

As the early morning hours dragged on the chances for a reprieve for Birger, condemned to hang about 10 a. m. for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City, Ill., grew smaller.

The gang leader, it was learned, has tried twice to commit suicide in his cell in the Franklin county jail. He tried to hang himself with a strip of blanket yesterday morning. The guards found him in a semi-conscious condition and revived him. Last Sunday he admitted taking poison in another effort at suicide but the attempt resulted only in a case of indigestion.

"I almost cheated the gallows," he said. "I'll find a way to beat it yet."

Rabbi J. R. Mazur of East St. Louis visited Birger in his cell last night. The rabbi said he would accompany Birger to the scaffold.

Condemned Man Forgives.

"We had a heart to heart talk," Rabbi Mazur said, "and Birger went so far as to forgive those who he thinks wronged him. We prayed together. Birger told me he wanted to do what was right toward God for the sake of his parents sister and two children."

For supper last night Birger ate a dish of strawberries and cream and drank two glasses of lemonade. Later in the evening a guard read an evening newspaper to him. He appeared calm and cool.

A neat grey suit, which he wore at his trial last summer, was cleaned and pressed, to be worn during the execution.

The gallows were tested and carpenters had completed the stockade a week ago, in preparation for the hanging. As late as Tuesday Birger had hoped for a respite through a sanity hearing which failed to save him.

Mayor Joe Adams, for whose

NATION TO OBSERVE AMERICAN FOREST WEEK.

American Forest Week begins throughout the United States Sunday, April 22. Devoted to a nationwide consideration of the problems of protecting and developing the country's forest resources and to an active campaign to bring about better forest conditions.

In a recent proclamation, President Coolidge designated the week of April 22-28 as the 1928 American Forest Week and urged the people of the United States to join in its observance, to the end, he said, "that energetic forest policies will be adopted in all communities."

Fire is the chief enemy of the forests, and prevention of fire will be stressed during American Forest Week this year.

"The rehabilitation of our forests demand first of all that the forest fire evil be suppressed," the president declared. "Many of the forested states, with the cooperation of timberland owners, have undertaken organized protection against forest fires; and in recent years, under the Clarke-McNary law, the federal government has given its support to the movement. This great cooperative enterprise must be extended and strengthened until every forested county in the United States is safeguarded against forest fires.

"But we are still far from the goal of complete protection. Every year, on the average, 80,000 fires scourge out woodlands, steadily undermining their vitality. For this bad situation, the blame falls equally on us all. Public agencies rarely provide adequate protection against fire, the timberland owner is too often indifferent to his property, the forest worker is too often neglectful of the future forest, the average citizen is too often careless with fire in the woods. He must all gain such respect for the forest that its destruction through indifference or carelessness shall be unthinkable."

In the observance of American Forest Week this year, public spiritedited citizens in all parts of the country are taking an active part. The American Forest Week Committee, of which Theodore Roosevelt of New York is chairman, has been organized to direct and coordinate the many activities for the Week. The committee is composed of more than 100 organizations representing every conceivable form of interest—the federal government, state governments, outdoor, wild life and recreational interests, foresters and forestry associations, the lumber industry, large consumers of forest products, labor, groups interested in water resources, scientific and civil organizations, women's organizations, newspaper publishers, boys' and girls' organizations, and a host of others. Local committees are serving in each state, all working to carry to the people the message of forest conservation and protection.

Although the subject of forestry covers a wide field and the development of America's forest resources presents many problems, the principal ideas which will be emphasized next week are the protection of the forests from fire and other causes of devastation, and the need of reforestation and sound timber management to restore and maintain in a productive condition the vast areas of cutover, burned-over, and idle land which at present are making no contribution to the wealth of future timber supply of the country. The forest problem, it is declared, touches practically all citizens of the country, each of whom can contribute to conservation and forest development by care with fire when he frequents the woods, as well as by lending intelligent and understanding support to the furtherance of better forestry conditions locally and nationally.

The time of the year has once more arrived when we must swat the fly and oil the mosquito. The war on these pests must be started early with no pause in the hostilities.

HIGH COST OF BAD HEALTH

Louis I. Dublin, health statistician, asserts that the total economic value of human beings in the United States—of their revenue-producing value—is about 1,500 billion dollars, as opposed to all material and animal wealth in the country of 21 billion dollars.

He asserts that the economic loss by preventable deaths is 6 billion dollars yearly, while 2 1-4 billion are lost through illness sufficient to incapacitate the sick from working.

It is clear, without raising the question of humanity, much less sentimentality, that public money spent for health protection and education will be repaid many times over by reducing unnecessary deaths and sickness.

ILLINOIS DOES WELL.

Illinois at its recent primary, made a genuine contribution to national political decency when it rejected Frank L. Smith, who, after being twice turned down by the United States senate for his "slush fund" campaign, sought "vindication" from the homefolks.

It is true that Mr. Smith, after a scandalous primary, was able to win an election from the people of Illinois. Apparently the voters cast their ballots without a full realization of what they were doing. This seems demonstrated by the recent vote in which the people definitely defeated the man whose campaign fund was enriched by gifts from public utilities over whose destinies he presided as head of the state public utility commission.

Scandal would have been heaped upon scandal had the voters of Illinois forgotten their sense of pride and responsibility and again elected a man whose case brought disgrace to Illinois as the Vare case has brought disgrace to Pennsylvania. Whether Illinois reversed itself out of its own sense of decency or regard for its reputation before the country, the state has done well.

IF SO, WHY FUSS?

The human mind is a queer institution. This reflection is caused by the fact that the mere suggestion that there may be another planet in the solar system, somewhere out beyond Neptune, is front-page news.

If there is another planet out there, four or five million miles from the sun, it means to the average individual on this earth considerably less than the discovery of a copper cent in last spring's trousers.

Indeed, most people have gone along without paying the slightest attention to Neptune and Uranus; a few have had curiosity enough to view the rings of Saturn through a telescope; some know Venus is the famous evening star of spring; a considerable number have heard about the canals on Mars and have wondered if that planet is inhabited; and occasionally one has tried to distinguish Mercury at its fartherest distance from the sun.

But for most of us the only really important features of the solar system are the earth and the sun, which seem to get along fairly well together, and to cooperate nicely.

So if there is another planet, why fuss?

Every time a man picks up a newspaper these days he finds that things are going along with no complaint anywhere, if it is an old enough newspaper.

When a girl puts her best foot forward she includes the leg that goes with it.

HEAD NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE PROBE WITNESS

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP)—Vigorous opposition of Samuel T. Hubbard, Jr., president of the New York Cotton Exchange, to the plan of Southern delivery on New York future contracts brought down by the special committee of the Exchange last February, was detailed by Hubbard today to the senate's cotton slump investigation committee. Hubbard said the plan had finally been defeated by a two-thirds majority of the Exchange members.

Chairman Smith, South Carolina, joint author of the Smith-Lever cotton futures act, and chairman of the investigating committee, told Hubbard he was seriously considering proposing an amendment to that act which would provide for Southern delivery on New York contracts as a means of limiting the speculative area in the spread of New York future quotations and spot prices in the South.

He suggested however that he was figuring on the possibility of providing that delivery points be designated in the contracts at the time they were offered for sale on the Exchange, both seller and buyer understanding fully what that point was and making their trade in the light of that condition.

"It would be a physical impossibility, in the confusion of cotton trading to deal in that form of contract," Hubbard said.

"That confusion is due to your present marketing system," Senator Smith answered. "Why not remedy the system and accommodate yourselves to the necessities of a sane market? You might not be able to trade so fast, but that might be a good thing."

REPUBLICANS HAVE FULL TICKET FIRST TIME MANY YEARS

NEW ORLEANS, April 17.—(AP)—General election of state and parish officers for four year terms absorbed the interest of Louisiana voters today, with the added novelty of a complete Republican ticket in the field—the first since reconstruction days immediately after the Civil War. Four proposed constitutional amendments also were on the ballot.

Democrats nominated in the January 17 primary, however, were assured of election due to an overwhelming Democratic vote. There were no contests for local offices as the Republican party did not hold a primary.

Huey P. Long, of Shreveport, member of the Louisiana public service commission, who won the Democratic nomination for governor in a three cornered race, was opposed today by Etienne J. Caire, sugar planter and banker of Edgard, Republican.

MAN HELD OKLAHOMA ON BURGLARY CHARGE CONFESSES MURDER

EL RENO, Okla., April 18.—(AP)—A confession to the famous Hall-Mills murders in New Jersey has been obtained from Elwin F. Allen, held here on a burglary charge, it was announced today by T. C. Shacklett sheriff of Canadian county, Oklahoma.

Sheriff Shacklett said he could not tell whether Allen was sincere in making the confession.

In his confession, Allen said he was paid $5,000 and given an automobile for the crimes. He refused to name the person who he said employed him. Sheriff Shacklett was of the opinion that he was holding out the name for "trading purposes."

Allen is about 28 years old and a citizen of Mexico.

The confession said that Allen held up the Rev. Edward Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills as they sat in an automobile parked along the highway and shot them after driving into a corn field. He said he arranged the bodies side by side in Plum lane. The New Jersey spot in which the bodies were found is called Derussey's lane.

Allen, who recently was brought here from the Oklahoma penitentiary at McAlester to face a burglary charge, said that after shooting the couple, whose death has been a mystery for nearly six years, he smoked a couple of cigarettes before taking the bodies to the spot where they were found.

After depositing the bodies, he said, he took the automobile in which they had been riding to near Vernon, Delaware. He burned the car near an old saw mill there, he said.

Allen has had a long criminal record in Connecticut, Texas and Oklahoma.

Under the name of Elmer Allen, he served two terms in the Connecticut state reformatory from 1911 to 1918.

He served a sentence at Dallas, Texas, also, records of the State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation at Oklahoma City, show. This sentence was served under the name of Edwin Franklin Allen.

In the Oklahoma penitentiary, he was known as Fred Allen. He was sent there from Blaine county in 1926 to serve a sentence of one year for forgery.

NEWARK, N. J., April 18.—(AP)—Newark police were informed today that a man known as Edward Allen, in jail at El Reno, Oklahoma, had confessed killing the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, near New Brunswick, on the night of September 14, 1922.

The information was contained in a letter from T. C. Shacklett, sheriff at El Reno. Last week Phillip Sebold, captain of Newark police, received a letter from a man who said he was a cell mate of Allen's, which also contained a story of an admission by Allen that he was responsible for the slaying.

(A Local Mutual Aid)

ALL FUNDS ARE BONDED

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS—John T. Fortson, President; R. C. Curtis, Vice-President; T. H. Westbrook, Secretary; W. Matt Thompson, Treasurer; Joe B. Fortson, Director; C. H. DeLafosse, Director.

PLAN AND PURPOSE

The purpose of this Association is to provide Life Insurance protection at a reasonable cost to its members. It is not operated for profit because none of the officers are paid except the Secretary. JUST PROTECTION AT WHOLESALE COST!

The plan is a very simple one, but different from the usual plan of local Aid Associations. You pay in accordance with your age. We endeavor to keep one mortuary assessment collected in advance so that we can pay the claims immediately after death.

GROUPS ONE & TWO

Age Limit 2 to 60 Membership Fee $5.00 Per Policy
Two Policies May Be Had—Double the Benefits
$1,000.00 POLICY
Death Benefits Return Premium Benefits
Cash Surrender Benefits

When a member dies the remaining members are assessed according to their age in accordance to the following table:

2 to 9 years pay $ .60 per call
10 to 35 years pay 1.10 per call
36 to 45 years pay 1.60 per call
46 to 55 years pay 2.20 per call
56 to 60 years pay 3.30 per call

RETURN PREMIUM BENEFIT: In addition to paying your beneficiary the regular claim in the event of your death the Association agrees to pay an additional amount equal to the net mortuary you have paid into the Association.

CASH SURRENDER BENEFITS: At the end of twenty years from the issuance of your policy or any reinstatement date of same, you may surrender your policy and receive back all that you have paid out for net mortuary purposes.

Each member pays a semi-annual dues as stated in the certificate, which is used for operating expenses.

GROUP NO. 5

Age Limit 16 to 60

In this group we issue either a $2,500.00 policy or a $5,000.00 policy. The membership fee for the $2,500.00 policy is $6.00. The members carrying this policy are assessed $3.00 per month—no more or no less. The membership fee for the $5,000.00 policy is $7.50. The members carrying this policy are assessed $5.50 per month—no more and no less. We insure men and women alike. These policies furnish death benefits only.

SENIOR GROUP

Age Limit 61 to 74 Membership Fee $6.00

In this group we issue a $1,000.00 policy which provides death benefits only. The members are assessed according to their age in accordance with the assessment table below:

61 to 64 pay $4.40 per call
65 to 69 pay 5.50 per call
70 to 74 pay 6.60 per call

THE ASSOCIATION AGREES THAT AT NO TIME WILL THERE BE MORE THAN ONE ASSESSMENT PER MONTH.

CAREFUL SELECTION OF MEMBERS

We insure white people only who are in good health at the time of making application for membership.

We have a method of checking up on all applicants for membership in this Association. This feature alone will keep our death rate down 10 per cent. Also this keeps out persons who are not justly due the protection that this Association affords its members. This is a great protection to the remaining members as it does away with members paying unjust claims.

SPECIAL THIRTY DAY OFFER

For the next thirty days we are putting on a special membership drive and have cut our membership fees on all our policies to $3.00 per policy. Just think you can get a $1,000.00, $2,500 or $5,000.00 policy for the small sum of $3.00.

LIST OF CLAIMS PAID BY CORSICANA BENEFIT ASSOCIATION

Below is a list of a part of the claims we have paid. We give you the amount paid from the mortuary fund and also the return premium benefit which is the full amount of mortuary each member had paid at the time of death.

PROMINENT BAPTIST DIVINES HEARD BY SUNDAY SCHOOL BODY

ENROLLMENT RUNNING HIGH AND HUNDREDS ARE YET TO ARRIVE FOR SESSIONS

With the enrollment far over the 2,000 mark and two special trains of delegates scheduled, to arrive during the afternoon, the second session of the third annual State Sunday school convention of Texas Baptists Wednesday morning was featured by addresses by Dr. John L. Hill and H. E. Ingraham of Nashville, and Dr. F. M. McConnell, editor of the Baptist Standard of Dallas.

Over $1200 to care for the expense of the convention was raised within a few minutes Wednesday morning under the leadership of Robert H. Coleman.

The question of the Baylor educational institutions was injected into the convention by Dr. McConnell, editor of the Baptist Standard, who merely announced the details of the Dallas chamber of commerce to the board for the removal of Baylor University from Waco to Dallas, following with the statement that "it is time and past the proper time for us to take a survey of our educational system and make plans for some progressive steps."

With the church packed at the time for the opening session, Robert H. Coleman led the audience in a stirring song service with Mr. and Mrs. H. B. McReynolds at the piano and marimba. Rev. Bonnie Grimes led the opening prayer.

Beaumont Man Presides.

W. H. Brooks of Beaumont, vice president of the convention, presided at the morning session. It was also announced that Rev. Ira Pattrack of Merkel would preside at the afternoon session in recognition of the honor won by his Sunday school in attaining an AA rating under the standard of excellence.

Dr. John L. Hill took as his subject for the morning devotional, "The Outpoured Life is the Only Life That Flowers." His talk was based on John 19.41: "In the place where He was crucified, there was a garden." Pointing out the appropriateness of a garden being on the spot where Christ made His supreme sacrifice, the speaker stated that the Scripture was an accurate illustration of his subject, and a picture of the only true philosophy of life.

This philosophy according to the speaker, is considering life as the gift of God, and an expression of the Fatherhood of God, and that every endowment should be developed and prepared to give the greatest service to our fellowmen. [illegible] sacrifice is made without a reward, according to Dr. Hill, and the greater the sacrifice the sweeter the reward. He pointed further that living for self resulted in a wilderness, but a life of service for others became a garden. He insisted that it was the duty of Christians to attempt to relieve the drudge of the daily grind of people in the rural districts.

This philosophy also gives courage to the despairing Sunday school worker. Voluntary service was especially beautiful according to the speaker because it cannot be bought.

Nashville Man Speaks.

Dr. Homer L. Grice, of Nashville, secretary in charge of the Daily Vacation Bible School work, was the second speaker of the morning. Terming the church as an agency for teaching the will of God, he urged every church to adopt every means of spreading the gospel which included the daily vacation Bible school.

The speaker discussed the spread of the vacation school to the foreign fields and gave a number of incidents connected with the work in Korea and Brazil. The secret of the success of the movement he declared lay in the teachers, who must be prepared and willing to serve before the schools could attain their ends.

Children love to worship God, and need only the opportunity, according to Dr. Grice, and the cooperation of the pastor and the officers and teachers of the Sunday school were urged.

Following Dr. Grice's talk, Rev. C. V. Edwards of Fort Worth and Walter Jackson of Abilene gave briefly their ideas of the value and their experiences with these schools.

After a short song service, H. E. Ingraham of Nashville spoke on the standard of excellence for Sunday schools. The standard offers a challenge to difiniteness, and proves the futility of haphazard work which is usually the result of limited vision.

Another challenge of the standard according to the speaker, is that of tested usefulness or proven methods. Among the 225 schools in the South last year having an enrollment over 900, only one in three were standard schools.

Enrollment Offers Challenge.

Enrollment also offers a challenge. With more than thirteen million people to draw from and less than two and a quarter million inside the church, a vast field is open.

The adoption of the standard of excellence gives a definite program of progress and without progress no school is alive, the speaker concluded.

A special musical number was furnished by Mrs. J. K. Wood, violinist, with Mrs. Paul B. Harper at the organ.

Pledges to cover the expense of the convention were secured under the leadership of Robert H. Coleman, totaling more than $1,200 within a few minutes time.

Dr. F. M. McConnell, of Dallas, editor of the Baptist Standard, was the final speaker of the morning session. Raising the question, "Why misisons have decreased, while Sunday school work has increased," he stated that it was time for serious consideration of the missionary projects of the church.

A part of the slump was accredited to the unusual amount of building that has gone on at home, as the churches revamp their equipment and provide better quarters for their own congregations. But these home comforts should not be enjoyed at the expense of the missionary projects, when many missionaries are at home on furlough when they are unable to return to their work because of the lack of funds.

The speaker asserted that no denomination had taken Christ seriously enough to carry out the great commission as He meant for it to be carried out.

Baylor Removal Mentioned.

Raising the question of the future of the Baptist educational institutions, Dr. McConnell detailed the offer of the Dallas chamber of commerce, which was announced Tuesday, which would provide a site for Baylor University in Dallas, and would give the University $1,500,000 when it was moved there. He refused to comment on the situation other than to say that when a denomination let its schools start on the downgrade it was failing, because without schools the church would have no place to secure its leadership.

"The time has fully come, and is past, for a survey of the educational institutions and the making of some plans for their future support and growth. I would like to see Baylor University the outstanding school in the entire South," Dr. McConnell concluded.

Following his address, Dr. McConnell made a plea for the Baptist Standard, stating that it should be in every hime.

At the general assembly preceding the afternoon conferences, Dr. John L. Hill delivered an inspirational address on the Bible.

At the evening hour, Miss Mary Alice Biby will discuss "My Intermediates;" Dr. W. H. McKenzie will speak on the "Value of Men in the Sunday School," and the closing address of the evening will be delivered by Dr. W. Marshall Craig.

Afternoon Session.

Dr. Prince. Burroughs, head of the administration department of the Sunday school board was the principal speaker at the general assembly Tuesday afternoon at the First Baptist church.

"What is the matter with the churches? was the question raised by the speaker. Pointing out that the church is meeting many obstacles today, he reminded the audience that never in the history of the church had it found the going easy. Prosperity constitutes a peril to the church, asserted the speaker, and never before in the history of the church has it been on trial as it is now.

"Over-organization," one of the complaints against the modern church was denied by the speaker, who declared that the difficulty was not in too many organizations but insufficient power behind the machinery to produce the desired results.

Following a general assembly at the First Baptist church Tuesday afternoon, the delegates separated into three different bodies for a departmental conference and for discussion groups. In some instances the departmental groups were subdivided..

In the Sunday school administration group at the First Baptist church, L. E. Waite was the presiding officer with the theme "Reaching the People." Following the song service led by Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wootan, a number of talks were made which included "The Sunday School Tasks of Texas Baptists," by H. E. Fowler; "The Eight-Day Enlargement Campaign" by H. E. Ingraham; "Shall We Provide Adequate Equipment?" by Walter Jackson; and "How to Use the Associational Organization" by J. N. Barnett. Conference groups on these subjects followed. More than 180 were in this group.

In the section for Young People's Adults and Home Department workers at the Educational building of the First Methodist church, practically 400 were enrolled for the session under the direction of W. A. Harrell of Nashville. W. L. Day was the presiding officer. Following a song service by Robert H. Coleman and H. W.. Reynolds, Dr. R. T. Wilson conducted a brief devotional, which was followed by an address by Rev. C. E. Matthews, "Building Young People's and Adult's departments.".

The group was then divided into three groups, one for each phase of the work under the direction of W. A. Harrell, Rev. Bryan Robinson and Mrs. Pick Allen.

In the group studying intermediate work under Miss Mary Alice Biby, J. William Mason was in the chair, and more than 120 were enrolled. Group discussion followed an address on methods used in builing up an intermediate department by Mrs. R. H. Burgess.

Elementary work was discussed by a group of more than 225 in a meeting at the First Christian church under the supervision of Miss Mattie C. Leatherwood. Following an address by Dr. I. J. Van Ness, secretary of the general Sunday school board, the section was divided into discussion groups for each of the different grades of work..

Evening Session.

A stirring song service under the direction of Robert H. Coleman with Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Reynolds at the pianos and marimba preceded the three addresses that featured the first evening session of the convention. Rev. Bonnie Grimes of Nacogoches led the opening prayer. Several announcements concerning the work of the convention were made by President T. L. Holcomb and G. S. Hopkins, secretary.

Taking as his subject "The Treasure in Earthen Vessels," Dr. I. J. Van Ness, secretary of the General Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention at Nashville, based his address on Paul's second letter to the Corinthians, in which he calls attention to the "treasure in an earthen vessel," which to him typified the gospel of Christ in man.

Pointing out that all of earth's treasures had been enclosed in earthen vessels, and that it was not so much the container as the content, the speaker pointed out many outstanding contributions to civilization that have come from the efforts of mere men. God has committed all the treasures of earth to men according to the speaker but many of them are put to strange uses.

God is helpless without man for He is dependent on man to carry out his work here on earth, and man must be willing to do the will of God, Dr. Van Ness declared. Man's body may be nothing but an earthen vessel, but it may contain the treasures of God if it is honored and prepared for the task, and the individual will stay with his task.

The names of those on the committees appointed Tuesday were read by President Holcomb. The lists follow:

Nomination: Rev. R. W.. Leazer. Temple, chairman; Mrs. Sam Bourn, Rockwall; Dr. A. E. Prince, Brownwood; H. P. Wootan, Dallas; and Rev. W. H. Wynn, Dallas.

Time and Place: LeRoy Moore, Waco, chairman; G. S. Murphy, Sherman; J. R. Fellrath, Belton; Mrs. J. Howard Williams, Corsicana; and J. D.. Carroll, Tyler.

Awards and Banners: Rev. H. E. Fowler, Dallas; Mrs. Paul Peterson, Dallas; and Mrs. W. H. Bussell, Dallas.

Resolutions: Dr. M. T. Andrews, Texarkana, chairman; Rev. Bonnie Grimes, Nacogdoches; and Mrs. W. E. Moore, Dallas.

J. V. Barnette of Nashville was the second speaker Tuesday evening. Taking his subject from the Scripture, "Lift up your eyes and look unto the fields for lo, they are white unto the harvest," the speaker declared that the time for activity in the Sunday school of the church had arrived because the church had the people, it had the churches, it taught by the "open" Bible, the people have kept their faith in the Bible, and the church has one of the greatest programs of work set out that any group has ever attempted.

Taking up the problem of the rural church and how to reach it, the speaker declared that the church offers one of the most effective means to be found in the "Eight-Day enlargement campaign" and in the second aid, the right kind of an associational organization. Included in the enlargement campaign is the survey of the field of each church both as to prospects and actual work, equipment and other items. The association organization forms an effective follow-up method for the campaign, according to Mr. Barnette.

Pointing out that ninety per cent of the progress in the Sunday schools had been made by less than twenty per cent of the schools numerically, the need of leadership was named as the determining factor, often the difference in success and failure.

Among the essentials of successful leadership pointed out by the speaker were fear of God and not man, a willingness to learn, dissatisfaction with present conditions, realization of the need of active effort, and a true conception of Christianity and a desire to lead people to Christ.

A special musical number was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Reynolds who played "Onward Christian Soldiers" first on the two pianos, and then with Mrs. Reynolds at the piano, Mr. Reynolds played the marimba accompaniment.

"The Way Out" was the subject of the closing address of the evening delivered by Dr. Wallace Bassett of Dallas. Asking the question, "Is there a way out for the world or the church in this present chaos?," the speaker took up a number of the suggested remedies.

Among them were legislation, which was termed powerless unless supported by public opinion, education which the speaker asserted depended altogether on the meaning assigned to the word.

Jesus Christ was pointed out as the only sure way out of the difficulties which confront the people of today. Proof of Christ's was offered in the fact that the angels who sang the hosannas are long since gone, and the names of the wise men are preserved only in legend but Christ remains the outstanding influence for good in the world and He shows the way.

Admitting that Christ offered the only solution to the problem, the speaker asked how the panacea might be applied. Going to the cause of the present chaos, the speaker quoted the passage from the scripture "Be not deceived, God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap," insisting that in this statement was to be found the real reason for the difficulties.

To spread Christianity, it must be planted in the hearts of men and women, and planted at the proper time following the law of God and nature.

"What we teach today we are tomorrow," was the statement of the speaker as to the planting time. He asserted that the principles of God's ownership, and stewardship must be instilled in the minds of the children of today if Christianity is expected soon.

Dr. Bassett insisted that the Scripture included three main principles that are determining factors in all life: it is the law of life or reproduction; it is the law of kind for when one kind of grain is planted, the same is reaped; and it is the law of increase, for just as one grain of corn produces a stalk with several ears, the principles of Christianity will bear similar fruit, if the ideals are imparted in a child during the formative years.

CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

With a seating capacity of almost 2,000 people, the auditorium of the First Baptist church is being sorely taxed to hold the delegates at the general assembly period Every available seat was taken Tuesday evening and last minute arrangements were made for another program in the First Christian church for the overflow crowd if necessary.

Officials of the convention said Tuesday night that all of the arrangements would be completed Wednesday, so that if necessary a duplicate of the services at the Baptist church would be held in the auditorium of the First Christian church if the crowd was large enough to demand the procedure.

Numerous banners are on display in the auditorium, and these will be awarded Thursday in their respective division for work accomplished during the past year.

A branch post-office under the direction of Avis M. Hendricks is located in the basement of the church, and all incoming mail is distributed there, and outgoing mail may be deposited and stamps secured.

A Western Union branch is also locate in the basement in charge of Misses Pride Curry and Lovelle Pittman. Messenger boys are kept on hand at all times to run errands and to relay messages between the downtown office.

Special local and long distance telephone booths have been installed in the church for the convenience of the delegates.

Delegates began arriving early Tuesday morning and continued in increasing number during the day. A reception committee greeted the visitors at the church and groups also meet the trains, interurbans and busses. E. L. Liddell is chairman of the reception committee.

In an effort to keep the convention running on schedule time, a signal system has been installed on the pulpit, visible only to the speaker, with red and green lights. As long as the green shows the speaker is at liberty to continue but the red light marks the end of his time, and means immediate curtailment.

The Pal's class room is being utilized as a display room for the Baptist Book store which is maintained by the Sunday school board to supply the pastors and churches with all their needed supplies.

One of the delegations from West Texas arrived Tuesday morning in a special palace bus, which is their official headquarters during the convention.

The site of the old church has been turned into a parking ground for the visitors and delegates in an effort to relieve the congestion on the streets surrounding the church.

One of the features of the convention is the work of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Reynolds of Denton at the piano. Two grand pianos have been installed and music for all of the singing is played by these two artists. Mr. Reynolds also has his marimba here and alternates on this instrument and the piano.

G. S. Hopkins, state secretary, said Tuesday afternoon that he brought 2,000 convention buttons with him when he came down, but the supply was exhausted shortly after noon, indicating that at least 2,000 delegates were attending the sessions.

A large number of cars transported the arriving visitors from the depots to the church and then to their home. The cars were furnished by the automobile committee headed by Joe Jefferson.

For the convenience of the delegates, a table has been placed near the platform which provides headquarters for Mrs. Paul Peterson, of Dallas, corresponding secretary of the Baptist State school convention, and Miss Flake Steger, also of Dallas, office secretary of the Baptist Sunday school department. Accommodations are also provided at the table for press representatives.

Waco Women Win To Semi-Finals

HOUSTON, April 9.—(AP)—Mrs. Whit Stafford of Waco, Mrs. Jack Lapham of San Antonio, Mrs I. J. Morris of Dallas and Mrs. L. W. Magruder of Waco entered the semi-final round of the annual Texas Women's Golf association tournament at the Houston country club Thursday when they came through their quarter final matches victoriously.

In the upper bracket, Mrs. Stafford eliminated Mrs. Mae Whittley of Fort Worth, 2 up, while Mrs. Lapham was risposing of Mrs. George Thompson of Fort Worth, 5 up and 3 to play. In the lower bracket, Mrs. R. C. Standash of the Hermann Park municipal course here went out before the superior stroking of Mrs. Morris, two and one, while Mrs. Magruder defeated Mrs. O. D. Deputy of Brownsville, 6 and 5.

Would Probe Leases Made by Democrats

WASHINGTON, Aripl 19.—(AP)—Investigation of leases in the Salt Creek oil fields in Wyoming made by the last democratic administration was asked in a resolution introduced today by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska.

Senator Norris would have the senate lands committee, which inquired into the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills leases under Secretary Fall of the interior department, make the new investigation.

Asking immediate consideration of his resolution, Norris was advised that it must first be referred to the committee on audit and control.

FAMOUS RIDE OF PAUL REVERE WAS OBSERVED TODAY

BOSTON, April 19.—(AP)—Memories of the "Shot heard round the world," were recalled once more today as this city and surrounding communities celebrated the historic rides of Paul Revere and William Dawes, Jr.

Thousands of persons who crowded from within and without the old North Church in Salem street last night saw Edward Revere Little, great-great-great grandson of Paul Revere, hang two lanterns in the celebrated belfry symbolic to those which 153 years ago started the battle for American independence.

Two riders arranged to traverse today the identic routes pursued by Revere and Dawes in spreading the news of the approaching British.

In Boston, Patriots' Day was signalized by a parade, two games between the New York Yankees and Boston Americans and the 32nd renewal of the Boston marathon.

The two children killed were Stanley Kmak, 7, and George Parritz, 11.

The convention was called to order Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock, by president J. O. Sessions, who led one song followed by prayer by Mr. Pursley. W. B. Payne first song with Mrs. Payne at the piano; Fred Copeland first song with Mrs. Payne, pianist; one song each by Mr. Cartledge, J. C. Payne, Homer Sanders, W. C. Mims, Jno. H. Ross, C. C. Goodman, Dr. Sheppard, G. W. McClure, with the following as pianists, Miss Jocie Sessions, Miss Nannie McClure, Mrs. Crider, Miss Freddie Barham, Miss Louise McClure.

Program committee was appointed as follows: G. W. McClure, Will Burnes, W. B. Payne. Dismissed by prayer by President J. O. Sessions, till 1:30.

Sunday afternoon at 1:30, convention called to order by the president, who led one song followed by prayer by Mr. Pursley; one song by Mr. Burleson with Miss Jocie Sessions, pianist.

W. C. Mims, Fred Copeland, Jno. C. Ross, appointed as committee on credentials, Arthur Hern, F. P. Smotherman, Robert Banks one song each with Miss Freddie Burham, Miss Jocie Sessions, pianist.

Committee on credentials reported two classes represented, Blooming Grove and Pursley. The report was received.

The business meeting being rained out Saturday, as it was time to elect officers for the next year a motion was made and carried to go into the election of officers. J. O. Sessions was nominated and elected president, unanimous; W. C. Mims was nominated and elected vice-president, unanimous; Dr. J. J. Sheppard, nominated and elected secretary-treasurer, unanimous; Mr. Pursley was elected chaplain for the next year unanimously.

Reading of the minutes of last meeting was postponed as they wished to have all the singing they could as there were several visitors present. The executive committee examined the secretary's books and found it O. K.

A motion made for the selection of place for the next convention, October, 1928. At this time an invitation was read by the committee on credentials inviting the convention to Blooming Grove. The invitation was signed by Dr. C. C. Kelsey, mayor of Blooming Grove, and [illegible] McCormick, president of the Business Men's Luncheon Club. A motion made and carried to hold the next convention at Bloming Grove on Saturday, 2:30 p. m., October, 1928.

FORMER TRINITY STUDENTS TO MEET DALLAS APRIL 26

Former students of Trinity University living in Texas are invited to attend the annual banquet, the date of which has been changed this year to April 26th instead of San Jacinto Day. The place is the roof garden of the Jefferson Hotel in Dallas. The change in the date was made to make it conform to the founding of the institution, which occurred on April 26, 1869.

Preparations in a large way are being made by the ex-students association of Dallas, which numbers over 500 of the former students of Trinity. Students living within a radius of 100 miles are especially invited.

The main speaker on the program will be Dr. S. L. Hornbeak, for many years president of Trinity University. He will speak on the subject "My 50 Years With Trinity University." It is likely that the subject of the removal of Trinity to Dallas will be discussed.

LYNCH DAVIDSON ANSWERS BAILEY'S RALLYING CRY

HOUSTON, April 17.—(AP)—The rallying cry sounded by former United States Senator Joe Weldon Bailey for the organization of a third democratic faction in Texas was answered today by Lynch Davidson, state chairman of the "Democrats of Texas."

Mr. Bailey outlined his plan for a third group at a meeting in Dallas Monday. He said that his ment of the party pledge, while the "Constitutional Democrats" opposed it and the "Democrats of Texas" merely "appealed" for its enforcement.

As he read the press reports of Mr. Bailey's speech, Mr. Davidson remarked that "the only difference as far as I can see it, is that Joe Bailey wants to be dictator of Texas democracy while we want to walk shoulder to shoulder with group would "demand" enforce-Texas democracy."

SENATE'S TEAPOT DOME INVESTIGATION WAS IDLE THURSDAY

TESTIMONY SHOWS FALL WAS ANXIOUS HAVE OIL PROBE STOPPED IN 1923

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP) With testimony by a member of his own family that Albert B. Fall was anxious to stop the oil investigation late in 1923, the senate Teapot Dome committee has closed another important chapter in its long inquiry into the naval petroleum reserve scandals.

The committee was not in session today, having exhausted its list of witnesses.

Meanwhile, it is expected to follow up the testimony of Clarence C. Chase of El Paso, son-in-law of the former interior secretary who leased the oil reserves, regarding the memorandum that mysteriously found its way into the committee records four years ago and contained the information that Fall never received a dollar from Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of Teapot Dome, for enlargement of his New Mexico ranch holdings.

Government attorneys have seized upon this development for possible support in their prosecution of Sinclair in the District of Columba supreme court on charges of conspiracy in connection with his lease of the Wyoming oil reserve. Chase was subpoenaed as a government witness in the trial yesterday and probably will appear soon.

Through him, the government will attempt to show a discrepancy between the declarations in the memorandum and the Fall claim that he received $233,000 in Liberty bonds from Sinclair for a one-third interest in his ranch property. The government charges these securities were given Fall in return for the Teapot lease.

While he did not know who prepared the memorandum or how it reached the committee, Chase told the senate investigators that Fall may have been the author since he and his father-in-law were the only persons at that time to have knowledge about the subject treated in it.

COUNTY NEWS

EMHOUSE

EMHOUSE, April 19.—(Spl.)—We have been having every kind of weather in the calendar. Saturday was a real winter day with sleet and snow, also rain, and a temperature below freezing. Corn and young gardens are looking badly.

Mr. and Mrs. Clabe Jones left Monday for Grayson county to visit the latter's brother, Tom Allen, who has been very ill for some time. Mr. Allen is well known here and his friends will regret to learn of his illness.

Miss Ruth Owens returned home Tuesday evening, after several days visit to her sister, Nancy in Corsicana. Her sister has been quite sick the past few days but is reported better at this writing.

Mrs. W. J. Collins returned Tuesday from Barry where she has been spending several days with her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Russell.

Little Herren Loydd Sharpley is reported resting better the last fek days. He was taken to the Navarro Hospital and Clinic last Thursday suffering with a ruptured appendix.

For Junior College

W. E. JAMES OF AUSTIN.

County-wide junior colleges, such as are proposed by the Educational committee of the Corsicana chamber of commerce in common with a number of other Texas communities, offer a substantial opportunity for increased school advantages to those communities which are able to finance them adequately and maintain sufficiently high standards, in the opinion of W. E. James of Austin, candidate for state superintendent of public education, who is spending Wednesday and Thursday greeting Corsicana friends.

While in Corsicana, Chairman A. A. Allison and Associate Chairman H. D. Fillers of the Chamber of Commerce Educational committee have conferred with Mr. James on educational matters in which the local committees is particularly interested. Mr. James until recently was managing director of the Texas Safety Council, in which capacity he was the principal speaker at a number of Corsicana engagements last fall arranged by a chamber of commerce committee on public safety.

"I believe that equal educational opportunities should be made a reality rather than a mere slogan," declared Mr. James.

In line with this thought, Mr. James said there were doubtless a number of counties in the position of Navarro which have sufficient financial and scholastic background to justify a junior college, giving two years of additional school training to boys and girls who otherwise might not have such opportunity. He pointed out that with the rapid progress being made in improved highways, such a county college would give a chance to practically every boy and girl in a county to get two years of college education with a minimum cost because most of the students could live at home and attend college as they now attend consolidated high schools.

CITY WILL SECURE SERVICES EXPERT TAX APPRAISER

At the adjourned session of the city commission Thursday morning at ten o'clock, Mayor Murchison, City Tax Assessor and Collector Franklin Seale, Commissioner R. L. Wheelock and City Secretary Preston Welsh were authorized to negotiate a contract with George G. Ehrenborg, tax expert with reference to an appraisement and blocking of the city for tax valuation purposes.

Mayor Murchison reported that Carter and Burnette, auditors, had been secured to make the annual audit of the city's books.

Bob Ingram who recently received a broken wrist, shoulder and other injuries in a cave-in while working for the city appeared before the commission. It was decided to continue his salary until a later date in order to determine the permanency of his injuries.

Among those present were J. S. Murchison, mayor; J. L. Marshall and J. N. Wheelock, commissioners; Franklin Seale, city tax collector and assessor; Preston Welch, city secretary; W. V. Mowlam, engineer; G. M. Crook, sanitary engineer; Wayne R. Howell, city attorney; H. S. Melear, recorder.

D. A. R. BLACKLIST OF SPEAKERS BRINGS FORTH RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP)—A resolution giving the various chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution the right to invite whatever speakers they choose without restriction by the National organization has been filed with the committee on resolutions of the society's biennial convention.

This announcement was made today by Mrs. St. Omer Roy, a delegate from Fort Scott, Kansas.

The resolution is the result of protest from some of the daughters to the alleged issuance of a "black list" which was said to have specified a number of prominent individuals as undesireable speakers before chapters of the organization.

Mrs. Roy also announced that two other resolutions had been filed with the committee. One would prevent the national organization from committing the members to any national policy until the chapters had acted upon it and the other calls upon the society's committee on national defense to submit and outline of its policy to the chapters.

DALLAS GOOD WILL TOURISTS VISITED CITY WEDNESDAY

GREETED IN CORSICANA BY LARGE CROWDS OF CITIZENS LATE YESTERDAY

According to schedule made in previous announcements the Dallas chamber of commerce 1928 good will busines s men's tourists stopped in Corsicana latel Wednesday, arriving in the city from the south about 6:30 o'clock amidst the screeching of the siren on the big Southern Pacific engine pulling the special train of the Dallasites. The trippers piled off their train at Union station and forming behind their band marched up Beaton street to the intersection of Fifth avenue, where a band concert and other features were held.

The visitors delighted the hearts and won the friendship of the large number of children who gathered to view the parade by handing out "squawking" balloons, whistles, chewing gum and numerous other souvenirs. After the band had given several numbers, Miss Maurita Henderson of Corsicana was introduced to the assembled crowd by Master of Ceremonies C. L. Norsworthy as the Corsicana Queen of the Dallas Style Show. In succession Miss Dean Walker, Miss Fama Crowther and Miss Esteleen Edwards were introduced as her maids. Mac Williams, radio vocalist of note sang a song.

Mr. Norsworthy made a short talk, praising Corsicana's hospitality and paying the city and her people some very pretty compliments. He was very hoarse from having spoken so often, but was just as peppy and happy as when the tour started a week ago. Corsicana was the final stop of the tour which carried the good willers into three states.

The parade again formed and marched to the train, only about 30 minutes being spent here. They were met at the train by the pep squad of the Corsicana high school, with Nell Dunn as leader, who pinned Texas bluebonnets on the lapels of the visitors and gave them a cordial and smiling welcome to the city. At the train also, besides members of the reception committee of business men were Miss Estaleen Edwards, Miss Fama Crowther and Miss Iva Jane Lytle, representing the chamber of commerce.

Corsicana's reception committee, arranged by E. D. McCarver, chairman of the chamber of commerce "Good Will Contacts," included Mayor J. S. Murchison, President C. L. Jester of the Corsicana chamber of commerce; Lowry Martin, business manager of the Daily Sun; Roy Christian, secretary chamber of commerce; W. C. Strouse, president Lions club; Charles G. Jester, president Rotary club; Fred Upchurch, president Civitan club; W. P. McCammon, president school board; H. D. Fillers, superintendent of public schools and number of merchants and bankers, which included A. G. Elliott, I. N. Cerf, J. E. Butler, J. N. Edens, Clyde Stroud, Joe Fortson, Harris Ransom, T J. Walton, R. J. Jackson, E. M. Polk, Garland Rhoads, W. P. Brown, Sydney Marks, Clyde Foster, George Baum, L. C. Coulson, Robert Cason, Harry Clowe, T. J. York.

Blue and Gray in Love Feast Meet

SAN ANTONIO, April 19.—(AP)—The Blue and the Gray applauded each other alternately here today as the joint state convention of the Woman's Relief Corps and the Grand Army of the Republic got under way. Many of the visitors at the convention were the gray during the civil war.

Believed Cuban Army Plane Lost at Sea

HAVANA, April 19.—(AP)—A two day search for the Cuban army plane PTE-3 with Lieutenant Ponce De Leon and Ensign Perez aboard has failed to reveal any sign of the machine, and all hope has been abandoned by aviation officials, who say the plane was blown to sea and lost.

Ponce De Leon and Perez left Columbia Field Tuesday afternoon for a practice flight at a time when high winds prevailed. Nothing has been seen or heard from them since.

VARIED PROGRAM FEATURED MEETING CIVITANS THURSDAY

DALLAS SPEAKER AND DALLAS AND DENTON SINGERS WERE HEARD

The regular program of the Civitan club Thursday noon was furnished by William Dickson, Dallas singer; Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Reynolds of Denton singers; and Bob Coleman of Dallas. T. C. Orr was chairman of the program committee and the program was in charge of Paul B. Harper, educational director of the First Baptist church. The entertainers are here in connection with the Sunday school convention at the Baptist church.

There were several visitors present.

Mr. Coleman was the speaker for the meeting, his subject being "The Growing of the Proper City Spirit." In the beginning of his remarks, he stated that the delegates had never been more delightfully entertained than while in Corsicana and that Corsicana seemed to know how to do it and that he would recommend to any other body desiring to hold a convention to select Corsicana for real entertainment and a good time.

Turning to the main portion of his address, Mr. Coleman said that in growing the proper city spirit that it was necessary to have the right kind of men He said that the men who were building cities now were the right kind. City builders must be patriotic and have the interest of the city at heart and men who will link up with others to build the city.

Continuing, the speaker showed how hard work and co-operation were necessary for success in the undertaking of building the right kind of cities. He stressed the necessity of having men of character and vision.

Institutions necessary other than industries, mercantile establishments, railroads, etc., enumerated included churches, hospitals and schools.

Civitan J. Wilson David asked a number of the Civitans to work as ushers at the next and final Little Theatre entertainment which will be held within the immediate future.

WHITNEY MONTGOMERY will be glad to see his friends ALL DAY SATURDAY at City Book Store.

Rotarians Meeting In Lubbock Today

LUBBOCK, April 19.—(AP)—With special trains from Amarillo and Fort Worth augmenting delegations coming by rail and automobile, the annual conference of the Forty-First District of Rotary International opened its two day session here today.

Rotary Governor Ellis H. Boyd of Fort Worth presided at the opening session today, with Ray J. Knoeppel of New York, International director, here to make several addresses.

GUSHING OIL WELL HAS BEEN RELEGATED TO THINGS OF PAST

SAN ANGELO—(AP)— The advent of thrift into oil production has destroyed the actuality of pictures showing a dark liquid spouting high above derricks and covering the ground with ooze.

Even gushers now are prosaic affairs. Their flow of oil is anticipated with the laying of equipment which saves the treasure taken from the soil. The visitor in the fields finds that a gusher appears to be little more than a collection of heavy pipes, fittings, valves and wheels about a derrick.

Although the product of oil wells is a potential and readily accessible power fuel, it is electricity that does the work. The power that passes along a wire has eliminated the steam boiler which was heated with gas or oil, and thus a great fire hazard has been removed.

Electricity turns the bits that sink the shafts. It operates the pipe line pumps, the loading racks, the gas compressors and the water separators.

Three factors —economy, safety and lack of water—hastened the use of electricity in the Pecos oil field. Water in some sections has been more costly than oil, and therefore the use of steam was prohibited. Hauling of water long distances has made it cost 75 to 90 cents a barrel, while crude oil brought only .65 to 70 cents.

Presence of natural gas in large quantities forbade the use of fires for heating steam.

Better than Beet-pulp!

Beet pulp is good. Purina Bulky-Las is better. Here's why:

Bulky-Las can be soaked in water and fed the same as beet pulp, and has the same succulent value. Bulky-Las, however, contains molasses which makes it more palatable than beet pulp. Again, it is much higher in available lime content, lack of which causes abortion and short lactation periods.

Feed Bulky-Las with Purina Cow Chow and get more milk at less cost per gallon.

An "Eternal Triangle" That Is Older Than Novelists Know

Our Day's Most Important Social Problem As Clearly Dealt With By Christ—Marriage, Divoce and Home Life—The Place of the Children.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

There is nothing really new about our modern social problems. If there were not so much of tragedy involved, it would be amusing to consider the naive ignorance of the new school of half-baked and over-press-agented philosophers who have suddenly "discovered" sex, and "selfexpression" and the perplexities involved in the marriage relation. Most of the ideas that 'popular" sociologists are handing out today, through the tabloids and their big brother magazines, may be found discarded in the scrap heaps of civilizations that died thousands of years ago. Our "advanced thinkers" seem to be dealing exclusively in old stuff, long since tested and thrown away.

In contrast, the Bible, as the present course of Sunday School Lessons clearly shows, is the most definitely and constructively contemporaneous book upon social questions. It deals with old-new issues in a clear-cut matter that commands the assent of the common sense of the race. If more preachers were looking for sermons in the Bible's clear teachings, rather than in the news columns and in the sensational current magazines and books, the public thought upon vital questions would not be so hazy and indefinite. We have no greater present social need than to ascertain definitely what the Bible really teaches upon the questions now agitating the public mind. The sound judgment of normal minds will confirm the wisdom of this ever-new old book.

Older than "The Eternal Triangle"

Most novels and plays are based upon what is called "the eternal triangle"—husband, wife and the intruding third party. (Although in certain circles the triangle is often a quadrangle, or some still more complicated geometrical figure.) It is sapiently assumed that the triangle represents the modern social problem of married life; the thing being accorded a sort of sanctity by its existence.

Now what does this awesomely frank book, the Bible, have to say on the subject? It is not silent, but clear-spoken and loud spoken. To our astonishment, we find that the Bible has its own really "eternal triangle," concerning the home; and one older than and different from the triangle of the novelists and the sociologists. Instead of being destructive, it is constructive; instead of being disintegrating, it is unifying, and integrating.

For the really "eternal triangle" of Scripture represents three parties to every true marriage— the woman, the man and God. Each is an essential part of the Christian conception of matrimony. A marriage is not a casual contract between two persons: it is a sacred relationship entered into at the command of God and by His favor and officiation. As the present Lesson says, in the words of Jesus, answering a catch-question about divorce,—

"But from the beginning of the creation, male and female made He them. For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife; and the two shall become one flesh: so that they are no more two, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

The Charter of Monogamy

There we have Christianity's only charter of monogamy. God made one man for one woman. Their new and God-ordained relationship is so sacred that it supersedes all the old blood-ties of fatherhood and motherhood. The husband and wife, joined together by God, are to stand as one in the face of the world. Their relationship is more binding and sacred than any other in existence. Paul, the great interpreter of the mind of Christ, likens the union of husband wife to that of Christ and His Church.

This absorbing and exclusive relationship of one husband to one wife, God Himself being the third party of the triangle, is Christianity's gift to a better world. On this rock polygamy has been wrecked wherever the Gospel has gone. It is the foundation of mongamy. By our Lord's own command, man is forbidden to shatter this holy union.

Specifically, Jesus forbade divorce, except, according to Matthew, on the grounds of adultery. In the nature of the case, a triangle of which God is a part cannot continue when such gross and deliberate sin is present. There are always two "innocent parties" to adultery—God, and the wife or husband against whom the man or woman has sinned. As for our modern careless custom of divorce, and all such filthy abbominations as "companionate marriage," God will have none of them. They violate His law, and must ultimately face His judgment.

As It Is In Russia

In pagan Africa and Asia, and in half-pagan Russia, the relations between men and women are based on fleshly lusts, and on sensual caprice. Polygamy, or its equivalent, is prevalent. Bolshevick Russia, with its avowed anti-Christian character, definitely seeks to nullify the sactity of the marriage relation. The part of God in marriage is repudiated. Marriage and divorce are declaredly only civil matters, and are made easier than the buying of a new suit of clothes. Many a man in Russia has a dozen marriages and divorces a year. This unhappy land should be the haven of all advocates of companionate marriage and easy divorce.

Yet a curious fact appears in recent reports from Russia. An American woman writer, who made a careful and protracted study of life under soviet rule, reports that she did not find one woman in all Russia, even though she had been married and divorced a dozen times, and has exercised all the "personal liberty" that our own "progressive" philosophers advocate, who did not covet supremely a real home of her own, with the true and abiding love of one man. In other words, amidst the orgy of sensual gratification that is communist Russia today, the ideal of the Christian home portrayed by Jesus in our Lesson is still the dearest dream and desire.

We talk loosely about "flaming youth," and "youth in revolt;" but in truth there is no normal young man or woman who does not dream of that most beautiful adventure of all, a happy and successful home, founded permanently upon romantic love, and loyal to the Christian definition of marriage. There is no other success in life equal to the making of a true home; nor one the results of which mean more to society. Often the effort fails; but only where the Third Party to the triangle is ignored; and God is not honored and His teachings not obeyed. The very patience and gentleness and loving-kindness of Christ are neeed to make marriage the beautiful achivement that it is meant to be.

When Jesus Grew Angry.

In this story by Mark, which is the day's Lesson, of how Jesus set His face against divorce, and gave the Christian interpretation of marriage, we find Him also delivering the Magna Charta of childhood. Parents had brought their little children to have the Master touch them: for always and everywhere fathers and mothers have coveted the best for their children. The officious disciples tried to hinder this, on the assumption that Christ had more important work on hand than showing favor to boys and girls.

Whereupon Jesus grew indignant. It is thrilling to see the gentle Jesus angry, and to recount the reasons therefor. As Mark tells us, He was displeased with His disciples, His cabinet, and rebuked them: for in the thought of the great Teacher there was no other work so important as laying a shaping hand upon the head of a child.

To the abashed and astounded twelve, and to the crowds listening and beholding, Jesus laid down a kingdom principle which has altered the entire conception of religion and of education:

"Suffer the little children to come unto me; forbid them not: for to such belongeth the kingdom of God. Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall in no wise enter therein. And He took them in His arms, and blessed them, laying His hands upon them."

Highbrow pedagogues, especially in that misty realm called "religious education," are trying to make psychological experiments out of little children; and to change the whole basis of Sunday school teaching. In our day's muddy-minded mood, they are having incredible and perilous leeway; but the sound sense of parenthood is sure to call all teachers of the young back to the Jesus principle. To lead the child to know Christ, and to love Him and to obey His word, is the whole of religious education. To that end, in the home and in the Sunday school, the boy and the girl should be taught the words of the Bible itself. Of course, there is a place for hero tales and nature study and the like in children's education: but that place is not in the Sunday school, where the time is all too short to teach the book itself wherein Jesus is to be found. I wonder if He does not again grow indignant at these stupid disciples in our own day who are keeping the little ones from Him?

One detail in the story asked must be pointed out. The parents asked only that Jesus might touch their children: instead, He took them up in His arms put his hands upon them, and blessed them. How much greater Christ's givings always are than people's askings!

LYNCH DAVIDSON APPOINTS DISTRICT VICE CHAIRMEN

HOUSTON, April 13.—(AP)—Appointment of 28 district vice chairmen to handle the fight of the "Democrats of Texas" for a dry national convention delegation without negative instructions as to candidates has been announced by Lynch Davidson, who was elected state chairman when the "Democrats of Texas" were formed at the Dallas harmony meeting last week.

All of the 28 have accepted, Mr. Davidson said. The plan is to have two vice chairmen, a man and a woman, in each of the 18 congressional districts, making a total of 36 district vice chairmen.

The Democrats of Texas opened state headquarters here Thursday. W. P. Hobby is first vice chairman, Mrs. W. E. Spell of Waco, first vice chairwoman, and Frank Gibler, secretary.

"The district leaders," Mr. Davidson said, "have been selected from among those prominent Democrats of the state who have voiced their approval of the action taken at Dallas last week when representative Texans from all parts of the state met under the leadership of Governor Dan Moody to combat the "beat or bolt—rule or ruin" movement started in North Texas a short time ago.

NO TRACE IS FOUND WEDNESDAY OF FIVE MISSING PRISONERS

Wednesday afternoon, no trace had been found of the five prisoners at large who escaped in the daring jail delivery here Monday shortly afternoon, it was reported at the sheriff's office. Officers and detectives over the state were still on the outlook for the prisoners but thus far nothing has developed as to their whereabouts.

The delivery was effected shortly after noon Monday when Deputy Sheriff E. W. Warnell went to feed them. He was rushed and over-powered by seven, two of whom were captured Monday afternoon and night.

Carl Clark and Amos Wills were the two recaptured.

Deputy Sheriff Warnell was able to return to his duties in the sheriff's office Wednesday and is expected to be fully recovered within a few days.

Among the prisoners who are still at liberty is C. C. Howe who was tried and convicted in connection with the daring daylight robbery of the First State Bank at Richland, Oct. 12. He was given ninety-nine years in the penitentiary in his trial here for the Richland deal.

NINETY-NINE YEAR SENTENCE HOPKINS COUNTIAN REVERSED

AUSTIN, April 18.—(AP)— Joe Minor's 99-year murder sentence for the fatal chloroforming of George Wyatt in Hopkins county in 1924, was reversed and remanded to Hunt county Wednesday by the court of criminal appeals, which withdrew its former opinion of affirmance because of "prejudicial" arguments used by the county attorney.

Death sentences of P. W. Howard, El Paso county, and Robert F. Black, Swisher county, for murder, were affirmed.

Howard, who was jointly indicted with W. S. Ham, was convicted of killing N. V. Nixon while the three were on an automobile trip in Ward county in the fall of 1920. Black was found guilty of killing J. Fred Connor with a pistol.

The court denied a rehearing to Lawrence Davenport, under death sentence for the killing of O. F. Foster at Houston in May, 1927, and abated the appeal of James Young of Houston from a death sentence for the killing of his wife, Ollie, because of Young's death.

In reversing the Minor case, the court held that the prosecution did not have the right to refer to the allegation that Minor had killed a man in Oklahoma and that he had had "adulterous relations" with one of the state's witnesses, in efforts to prove him a "bad man and criminal generally."

Scriven's Appeal Is Legal Tangle

AUSTIN, April 18.—(AP)— A tangled legal question is raised by W. S. Scrivner in his appeal filed with the court of criminal appeals from a Galveston county life sentence assessed him for robbery of the Texas City First National bank.

Schrivner, convicted several years ago of participation in the Jackson Street, Dallas, postoffice robbery, in which two lives were lost, contends that the trial court erred in the jury charge.

The part objected to was the court's instruction that if the jury found Scrivner guilty, it should assess him not less than the punishment provided in the previous conviction.

Presumably admitting that to be statutory in ordinary cases, defense attorneys assert that a pardon obtained by Scrivner from the first alleged offense blotted out that transaction forever and that technically he stands convicted of only one robbery.

AUSTIN, April 18.—(AP)—Proceedings in the Court of Criminal Appeals today—

Affirmed—J. C. Burgess, Knox; H. E. Gray, Harris; Earl Smith, Knox; Jim Kennedy, Lynn; S. S. White, Hale, (two cases); P. W. Howard, El Paso; Charlie Webb, Wheeler; Frank Duda, Milam; Flugencio Hernandez, Frio; Frank Schaefer, Bexar; Robert F. Blake, Swisher; Henry Steel, Potter; Eldred Robinson, Williamson.

Reversed and remanded—Elbert Boles, Rusk.

Appellant's motion for rehearing overruled—Ed Spears, Tom Green; Vincent Spero and Lewis Sicola, Harris; Lawrence Davenport, Harris; Tom Roberson, Rains; (two cases); Tomas Sifuentes and Eusebio Gonzales, Coleman.

Appeal dismissed—L. L. Ray, Wood; M. Zepeda, Frio.

Appeal abated—James Young, Harris.

Former opinion withdrawn, reversed and remanded—Joe Minor, Hunt.

Appeal reinstated, affirmed—Joe Wimberly, Gillespie.

REPUBLICAN CLUB SIDE-STEPPED PRO REPEAL QUESTION

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP)— The national Republican Club has side-stepped the prohibition question.

The club, in executive session last night, tabled a majority report of its committee on national affairs advocating repeal of the eighteenth amendment and a minority report urging defeat of the report submitted by the majority.

The vote on the two reports came after almost three hours' debate and the outcome apparently met with the approval of both factions. The vote was 124 to 88.

Richard W. Lawrence, who was inducted into the office of president immediately after the vote on the motion to table, was among those who spoke against the majority report.

He quoted President Coolidge, Secretary Hoover, Senator Curtis of Kansas, and former Governor Lowden of Illinois on law enforcement, and asked: "How can this club properly take a position opposed to that of the men mentioned as the leading possibilities for the Republican nomination for president?"

The name of Governor Smith was frequently brought into the discussion and opponents of the majority report asserted it proposed to go further than Governor Smith in his opposition to prohibition. They pointed out that the New York governor never has come out for repeal of the prohibition amendment.

DALLAS OFFERING INDUCEMENTS FOR REMOVAL BAYLOR

DALLAS, April 18.—(AP)— Members of the Baptist educational relocation commission delegated to handle the proposed transfer of Baylor University from Waco to Dallas held another secret meeting here today with officials of the chamber of commerce, supposedly to discuss the offer of $1,500,000 and land necessary made yesterday in the event the university is relocated here.

When the meeting closed, M. J. Norrell, general manager of the chamber of commerce, said: "There is nothing to give out on the meeting."

CONNALLY OPENED CAMPAIGN TUESDAY FOR U. S. SENATE

BELTON, April 18.—(AP)—Vigorously assailing the republican party, and declaring he would "support the nominee of the democratic party" regardless of whom the nominee might be, Representative Tom Connally of Marlin opened his campaign here Tuesday for election to the U. S. Senate.

Mr. Connally outlined his stand on many subjects. Of prohibition, he said: "I stand for the enforcement of the law. Since of voting age, I have uniformly voted for local option and prohibition."

He said he favors farm legislation that is beneficient and economically sound, including in this group the act providing for an agricultural member on the federal reserve board, establishment and continuance of the war finance corporation, establishing of intermediate credit banks and measures to promote cooperative marketing.

A large standing army in time of peace, he said, is not necessary, although he stressed the importance of aviation as an instrument of warfare and an aid to commercial development. He said he is vigorously opposed to the intervention in Nicaragua.

He declared against high protective tariffs; for federal aid in road building programs, restricted immigration, a taxing standard of graduated rates with reasonable exemption, legislation giving just consideration to labor, war veterans aid.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD WEDNESDAY FOR EDGAR YOUNG

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. F. P. Culver, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Surviving are his parents, three brothers, William Harvey Young, Washington, D. C.; John C. Young, Cameron; J. A. Young, Jr., Corsicana; two sisters, Mrs. Merril D. Cooper, Dallas; Miss Lois Young, Corsicana.

Pallbearers were Sonny Royall, Corsicana; Neil Walton, Corsicana; Harry Bramlett, Dallas; Jack Moore, Dallas; Buster Sewell, Waco; and Boone Anderson, Fort Worth.

FEW BOLL WEEVIL EMERGE IN TEXAS REPORT CLAIMS

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP)—The first of a series of semi-monthly reports on the emergence of boll weevils in hibernation cases for the season of 1928 was announced Tuesday by the department of agriculture. The reports give the percentage of weevils that had emerged prior to April 1, with comparative figures for last year where available. The report includes: Baton Rouge, La., 1.18 compared with none last year; College Station, Texas, .33 compared with 2.28 last year.

The department pointed out that these early 1928 records are of a preliminary nature and do not warrant the drawing of general conclusions as will the later records.

ALLEGED "MURDER RING" CONSPIRATOR HELD WITHOUT BAIL

SAN ANGELO, April [illegible].—(AP)—J. H. Dumas, held without bail in proceedings in district court at Rankin yesterday when arraigned on a charge of conspiracy to murder, left here early today for Austin, Travis county, to which county his case was transferred on a change of venue.

Dumas' indicted for murder and conspiracy in the death of two men during an alleged bank robbery at Rankin, was in the custody of Ranger Jim McCoy. Dumas' indictment followed charges by Ranger Captain Frank Hamer that a "murder ring" existed for the purpose of collecting the $5,000 reward offered by the Texas Bankers association.

Sheriff Bud Barfield of Upton county, to whom the Bankers association had offered to pay $10,000 has refused the money until the matter is cleared up. Sheriff Barfield and his deputies have been exonerated by Upton county grand juries.

ABSENT WITNESSES DELAY OUSTER TRIAL IN ELLIS COUNTY

WAXAHACHIE, April 17.—(AP)—After only one additional defense witness had testified here today in the trial of the civil ouster suit against L. J. Woods, county attorney of Navarro county, recess was taken until 3 p. m., in order that state rebuttal witnesses who had not appeared might arrive to testify.

The last defense rebuttal witness was C. S. Woods, a former Navarro county grand juror, who testified that John Fortson, foreman of a grand jury, had said: "The bootleggers think the county attorney is too vigorous in his prosecution of them."

Woods said he had heard some talk of the county attorney's being "shot in the back by his enemies."

After several documents had been introduced, state attorneys asked for a recess until 3 o'clock.

It is expected testimony will be completed today, and the case submitted to the jury tomorrow on special issues requiring "yes" and "no" answers.

By WARD LUSK,
(Daily Sun Special Correspondent)

WAXAHACHIE, April 17.—(AP)—When court was to meet again at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the L. J. Woods ouster trial, it was expected by court observers that Judge Tom Ball's charge to the jury would be delivered. Work on the charge has been under way several days and a conference with all attorneys in the case was held with the judge Monday night.

It was expected that the hours between 10 a. m. today and 3 would also be devoted to working on the charge, conferring with attorneys in regard to its wording and so on.

Amount of time to be allotted to each side for argument is still unsettled. The defense is asking at least six hours while state attorneys say four is sufficient. It is believed three will speak on each side. The case is expected to go to the jury late Wednesday.

Monday's Session.

Clyde Wilkes, jailer for the last two years at Corsicana, witness at the Monday morning session, said he had known Woods three or four years, but that Woods had been to the jail only three or four times while he was county attorney. Wilkes said he accompanied Woods through the jail each time he was there and that he had never heard Woods say to the negroes, "You ought to get Bibb as a lawyer," and declared he would have heard Woods say that if he had made any such statement. Witness said in his judgment V. McMurray was drunk when he brought prisoners to the jail after the Samatino raid. Cross examined by Tarver, Wilkes said there was a pretty good bunch of prisoners in the jail and that if he knew the attorneys he would allow them to confer with the prisoners. He admitted he didn't undertake to listen to all the attorneys said. He said it was possible Woods might have conferred with the prisoners out of his presence. Wilkes said McMurray, Speed and Perehouse arrested prisoners in the Samatino raid and brought them to jail, but that he did not confer with McMurray and said McMurray did not come into his office.

Tells of Raid.

Phyllis DeLarty, who said she was related to Mrs. Samatino, told of the raid on the Samatino place and said it looked as though McMurray was drunk. She told Tarver on cross-examination that she was waiting on the store while Mr. and Mrs. Samatino were eating supper when the second raid took place; that it was 7:30 or 8 o'clock in the evening and that Mrs. Carroll was present. Witness said the officers got about 30 bottles of beer and a half gallon of whisky; that McMurray was staggering and cursing and she felt so ashamed that she left the store.

Mrs. Johnson said she talked to County Attorney Woods about her daughter and Paschal and Henderson; that she didn't know whether the boys were indicted. She said she didn't think there was any use to prosecute after Henderson mad married the girl. Witness said she testified before the grand jury but couldn't remember what she told them. Cross examined by Tarver, Mrs. Johnson said her daughter got into trouble with the boys last February, a year ago, and that marriage took place in February. Mrs. Johnson said she went to talk to Mr. Woods about the matter, but didn't remember who suggested that she appear before the grand jury—that she didn't think it was Woods. Mrs. Johnson said her daughter married Teddy Henderson. She testified she knew Bibb only by sight.

Corsicana Lawyer Testifies.

S. M. Kerr, Navarro county resident 60 years, and a lawyer for more than 30, testified that he had known Le Grand Woods several years and that his reputation for honesty and fair dealing was good; that he was an able, fair and vigorous prosecutor. Kerr told Sharp, of the state, that his practice was confined to civil matters, and admitted he was not in court often when criminal cases were being tried. He said that he knew Bibb slightly and never heard rumors of collusion between Bibb and Woods until the judge's charge to the 1928 grand jury. Witness said he is not well acquainted with Bibb and that he thought Bibb came to Corsicana during the oil boom. (Sharp's question about Bibb's reputation in Dallas and Wichita Falls was overruled by the court.) On redirect questioning by May, Kerr said he had kept up with law enforcement in Navarro county but he was not permitted to say whether the prohibition law had been enforced during Woods' tenure of office. (Mays announced that with the exception of Judge Blanding, who was to be present during the day, the defense rested. State agreed to allow the judge to take the stand when he arrived.)

After a parley by State's attorneys, they offered several witnesses in rebuttal, the first of whom was Walter Hays, a Corsicana resident, former deputy sheriff and sheriff of the county, who testified he knows County Attorney Woods and V. McMurray; witness said he heard a confab between McMurray and Woods in the latter's office and declared that while he wouldn't undertake to repeat the conversation word for word, he said in substance that Woods told McMurray to go to Dallas and arrest H. P. May. He said Woods said: "I might not be able to stick him (May) but I want him arrested anyway." He said he didn't know exactly what was said about bond and he was excused without questioning by the defense.

Sheriff Wilson on Stand.

Sheriff W. T. Wilson, Corsicana, testified he was sheriff in 1927 and and that he had a deputy last year called when V. McMurray went to called when B. McMurray went to Dallas after H. P. May and said Woods came to his office and wanted McMurray to arrest the Dallas man. He said Woods declared he knew right where McMurray could put his hands on him and that if they made May's bond less than $2,000 to return it. Wilson related details of the Samatino arrest and said Woods told him he was "going to make McMurray resign or have the grand jury indict him." Wilson said McMurray resigned in November and prior to the Rothcroft complaint he had heard no criticism of McMurray. (The court would not let Wilson say what McMurray told the sheriff was the cause of his resignation.) But Wilson declared that McMurray resumed his duties with the Texas Electric Railway.

Witness said he conferred with Woods after the January grand jury and said the county attorney told him about the $35 extra costs in the B. Franklin case; that he, Woods, had collected it for the sheriff and district clerk. Wilson added, however, that he received his compensation in felony cases from the comptroller's department. Witness said he did go to Red River county in search of B. Franklin, made only one trip.

Cross examined by Mays, Wilson said he did not appear before the grand jury but that he thought McMurray resigned about the middle of November. Wilson said he accepted McMurray's resignation and did not refuse to accept it. (At this point, the sheriff said it might be between 150 and 200 miles to Clarksville, and then told of the fees allowed by law. He said that in some instances he got 5c a mile and that in others, especially on return trips where he was in a private vehicle, he received as high as 28c a mile.)

S. B. Jordan Testifies.

S. B. Jordan, Corsicana, justice of the peace since 1925, said he talked to J. I. Brown last year when Brown had a citation in his hand, ordering him to appear in Kaufman county. Jordan said Brown returned to his office an hour or so later and had the justice to issue a warrant for the arrest of Zelvin Jones. Witness said he talked to Woods after the complaint was filed and said Woods told him not to send the case up to the grand jury, that he (Woods) would doooooooooooooooo (Woods) would dismiss it. Jordan said he knew Bibb but was not permitted to tell whether he had heard rumors about Bibb and Woods.

Clyde Wilkes, recalled to the stand, this time for the state, said he had lived in Dawson practically all his life; that he knew Mr. and Mrs. Jarnigan and their daughter, Blossom, a long time. Wilkes said he knew Blossom's reputation for truth and veracity in that community and that it was good. Cross examined, Wilkes said he was not a married man, and left the stand amidst hearty laughter on the part of the spectators.

Police Captain on Stand.

Dave Seaton, police captain at Corsicana several years, said he had served four years as deputy sheriff. He recalled the Joe Sparks case, saying he thought it was in June last year. Seaton said he was not called before the grand jury until January, 1928. Witness said he knew where the Pioneer News Stand is located and that probably last November he reported to Woods that slot machines were being operated. He said he took action in the matter by going down to see about the slot machines and tried to talk to McDonald, but that he was out of the store. Seaton said he was not personally acquainted with W. L. Bibb but knows him when he sees him. Cross examined, Seaton said he was across the street the night Sparks was arrested. He said he testified before the January, 1928, grand jury, and never heard of it if this jury indicted Sparks.

Had No Search Warrant.

City Policeman Claude Patterson, again on the stand, said he talked to Woods about the Sparks case after the grand jury had met; that Woods came to see him and said that the Sparks case was one which the January grand jury accused of wilful misconduct. He said he was not called before any grand jury until 1928. Patterson said he did not know Blossom Jarnigan but was acquainted with her brother; that so far as he knew, her reputation for truth and veracity was good. Cross examined, Patterson said he didn't know whether the January grand jury indicted Sparks or not. Witness said he had no search warrant when he arrested Sparks, but admitted there were two Joe Sparks' in Corsicana; he said he didn't talk to Woods when a man named Sparks was arrested in the Vogue Cafe. Patterson admitted the county attorney might have gotten the two Sparks' confused.

Monday Afternoon Session.

Judge J. M. Blanding, defense witness, said he was an attorney and had lived in Corsicana 65 years. He said he was honorary president of the Navarro County Bar Association; that he was active president of that body 25 years, also serving as a judge in Navarro county. Judge Blanding said that while he spends a good deal of his time with his daughter, Mrs. K. G. Stroud, Italy, Ellis county, he has known LeGrande Woods all of his life; that his reputation in Navarro county for honesty and fair dealing is good.

County Attorney Emerson of Ellis county, at this point, read into the record several documents, among which were two indictments against H. P. May and Byron Franklin, one against Franklin for receiving and concealing stolen property, two against Rich Steel; two indictments against Abe Levine and the following complaints, one against each person: Dee Molloy, Golda Fay Smith, Jean Molloy, Clarence Burleson, Zelvin Jones and Joe Sparks. Beauford Jester also read a statement purporting to have been signed by Joe Samatino.

Woods Worked With Grand Jury.

During the remainder of the day, four state witnesses in rebuttal were placed on the stand, first of whom was John T. Fortson, foreman of the October grand jury. A resident of Navarro county all his life, Fortson testified that Woods worked with that grand jury and that he presented a list of 8 or 10 names, of those whom he declared were doubtful of conviction. Fortson said William Connor had asked for the list and he said that Jean Molloy, Golda Fay Smith, Mrs. M. L. Allison and Gus Collins were on it. He testified Woods told the grand jury that he thought he could not convict them. Witness said that in the Clarence Burleson case, Woods told the grand jury that Burleson was young and said that he was influenced by Woods to vote for no bill.

In regard to the V. McMurray case, witness stated that Woods told the grand jury McMurray was guilty of bribery and ought to be indicted. He said Woods told the grand jury that he had evidence McMurray was "laying up with a woman in the Red Light district.:" Fortson testified, however, that the woman declared McMurray had never been there but three times, and each time on official business. Fortson said Woods began quizzing McMurray, but that McMurray told Woods the county attorney had been mad at him ever since he failed to arrest May.

Witness testified Woods said he was going to indict McMurray for bribery. On cross-examination, Fortson said he had not seen the minutes of the grand jury recently and that he couldn't recall everything that was testified in a three-month grand jury session. He said he didn't recall when McMurray resigned; that he was absent from the jury two days on account of litigation in district court. He said he guessed it was the minutes of his grand jury when shown it by Dick Mays, but declared that the original minutes were written by the jury's secretary on yellow paper.

Fortson said Woods usually told the grand jury whether he thought he could convict or not. He testified that he might have told jurors that "bootleggers have got it in for the county attorney" and that if he did he had no recollection of it. However, he would not deny having said it. On questioning by the defense, Fortson admitted he was on the plaintiff's cost bond. Witness said that he knows T. H. Benton, F. M. Copeland, G. G. Owens, R. D. Fleming, A. F. Mitchell, S. Z. Burke, W. A. Lang, Tom Worthington, N. C. Goodman, J. W. Harris, T. B. Blount and Earl McDaniel, members of the 1928 grand jury that brought the suit, but witness was not permitted to say what kind of men they are in his own knowledge.

Take Short Recess.

Following a 15-minute recess, state's rebuttal continued, with J. T. Newsom, Corsicana merchant, on the stand. He said that while he had been a merchant for the last 10 years, he was an active Methodist minister 20 years. He said he knew Blossom Jarnigan and first knew her as one of his Sunday school pupils. The witness said he thinks he knows Miss Jarnigan's reputation for truth and veracity as being good.

Cross-examined by Mays, witness said he wasn't entirely out of the ministry and had held a meeting in Corsicana last fall. He said he understood Miss Jarnigan had worked for Bibb after getting out of Miss Rice's stenographic school; that she was a telephone girl before that. The witness said he had never heard Blossom's reputation discussed; and that he didn't know how long she had been in Dallas; that he had had no communication with her.

At Brown's request, Defendant Woods was again placed on the stand. Woods admitted the January, 1928, grand jury had recommended an ouster suit and his answer was made after Brown had shown him a certified copy of the jury's report. Woods said he had nothing to do with writing grand jury minutes, that his secretary did the typing.

Knew Molloy Many Years.

Arthur Elliott, president of the Corsicana National bank, said he served on the jury commission which selected the 1928 grand jurors; that he had known Dee Molloy 15 or 20 years; that so far as he knew, Molloy's reputation for truth and veracity was good. Elliott admitted to Mays, however, that he didn't "run" with Dee Molloy.

J. B. Fortson, Corsicana banker, farmer, ginner and merchant, said he had known Dee Molloy 10 or 15 years; that so far as he knew Molloy's reputation for truth and veracity was good. Cross-examined, Fortson told Mays he knew only today that he would be a witness in this case and said he was subpoenaed by state's attorneys. Witness said he did not run around with the crowd Molloy runs with and admitted that before this case came up he had never heard Molloy's reputation discussed. To Mays' questioning, the witness said "Dee ran a mighty good cafe; that I have eaten there on several occasions, but I never drank any of Dee's beer." He was not permitted to answer whether Molloy had failed in restaurant business several times or not.

Joe Brown of the attorney general's department offered a new statement made by Golda Fay Smith, but Mays objected to it on the grounds that it was merely a re-hash of Golda Fay's testimony. After a few parts of the statement were stricken out, Brown read it to the jury.

ODD FELLOWS WILL OBSERVE FOUNDING OF ORDER THURSDAY

The annual observance of the founding of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will be made at the I. O. O. F. Home Thursday, April 26, and visiting Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from a number of surrounding communities and towns are expected to be on hand with well-filled baskets as has been the custom for years. This will be the observance of the 109th anniversary of the founding of the order in North America.

The inmates of the home will be the guests of the visiting Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. A program will be given in the afternoon by the children of the home.

Members of the board of trustees and other officials of the order always attend this annual affair.

The following committees have been appointed by the local lodge to have charge of the arrangements:

General Committee—R. C. Talbot, chairman; W. O. Barlow and J. W. Lunn.

Purchasing Committee—W. T. Parker, chairman; John C. Hughes and J. N. Royall.

Entertainment Committee—G. W. Hawkins, chairman; Mrs. P. J. Finley and Miss May Curtis.

Reception Committee—E. A. Johnson, chairman; J A. Watt, W. F. Thayer and all members of Lodge No. 63.

Publicity Committee — Paul Moore, chairman; Lowry Martin and W. T. Parker.

Auto Committee—W. J. Seelig, chairman, and all members of Corsicana Lodge No. 63 who have automobiles.

Rebekah Committee—Mrs. A. E. Haslam, chairman; Mrs. Hallie Steely and Mrs. Joe Rehders.

NAME ARRANGEMENT COMMITTEE FOR BIG HOME COMING PARTY

Arrangements are now being perfected for the public reception that Corsicana will give to John W. Carpenter, president of the Texas Power and Light Co., which organization will within a very short time take over the Corsicana Power & Light Co.

The event will be known as the John Carpenter Home Coming Reception, Mr. Carpenter having been raised in Corsicana prior to moving to Dallas to head this big electrical institution of Texas.

Today, President C. L. Jester of the chamber of commerce appointed Lowry Martin as general chairman of the arrangement committee and has asked Mr. Martin to suggest the other members of the committee and submit same for the approval of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce, after which a definite line up will then be made and committees appointed to take the reception in charge.

Mr. Martin has accepted this honor and responsibility and has already named the arrangement committee as follows:

J. S. Murchison, Mayor of Corsicana.

C. L. Jester, President Chamber of Commerce.

W. C. Stroube, President Lions Club.

Chas. G. Jester, President Rotary Club.

J. E. Butler, President Country Club.

Fred Upchurch, President Civitan Club.

Festus Pierce, President Retail Merchants Association.

W. P. McCammon, President Public School Board.

W. H. Hastings, President Y. M. C. A.

F. N. Drane, President Corsicana Power & Light Co.

Mrs. M. L. Marks, President City Federated Clubs.

Roy Christian, Manager Chamber of Commerce.

L. V. Majors, Adjutant, American Legion.

Chairman Martin has issued a call for the arrangement committee to meet with him tomorrow evening at 3 o'clock at the chamber of commerce for the purpose of going into a permanent organization, the appointing of all necessary committees to put the reception over and to attend to such other matters as might come up in connection with the plans for the event.

Mr. Carpenter has already accepted the city's invitation to the reception and will within a few days notify the committee in charge as to the date that he will be here, which is expected to be around March 1st, at the time his company will take over the Corsicana utility.

MURDER CHARGE DISMISSED.

GALVESTON, April 13.—(AP)—Charges of murder against William Curtis in connection with the slaying of E. O. Evans, Texas City policeman, were dismissed in district court here today. Repudiation of testimony by a witness for the state, who now faces perjury charges, was given as the reason for the dismissal.

Campbell Bank Was Looted Last Night

GREENVILLE, April 19.—(AP)—Robbers sometime last night looted the First State bank of Campbell, 10 miles ast of here of about $6,000. Entrance to the building was gained through a back window. The lock to the vault was broken and a hole burned in the safe where the money was kept. About 20 private deposit boxes were also rifled.

The robbery was discovered when officials opened the bank for business today. Greenville officers were notified. No clues had been found.

CHARGE TO JURY IN OUSTER SUIT IS DELAYED BY DEFENSE

By WARD LUSK,
(Daily Sun Special Correspondent)

WAXAHACHIE, April 18.—(AP)—Marked by delay on the part of defense attorneys no session of district court was held Wednesday morning in the ouster trial of L. J. Woods. The defense was still working on their exceptions to the charge and court was to reconvene at 1:30 p. m., at which time the charge to the jury will be read.

A. P. Mays, only defense attorney to appear in the court room this morning, said they worked on the case until 12 o'clock Tuesday night and began again at 8 a. m. Wednesday, but that they would be through by noon today. The state was ready for the charge to be read at 9 a. m.

Amount of time for argument has not been set, but it was believed that not more than five hours to a side would be permitted. It was expected the state would take their time today and tonight, the defense beginning early Thursday. As matters now stand, the case probably will go to the jury late Thursday.

Exceeding the time thought necessary at the outset by several days, attorneys and jurymen appear weary of the case. More than 100 witnesses have testified and the case has been reachd thoroughly, only about 19 of the 29 counts against Woods having been aired. The ouster against Woods was filed in the district clerk's office late in March and was called for trial on Monday, April 2, two weeks and a half having been consumed thus far.

One unique feature of the trial has been the sustained interest, the court room being filled and sometimes filled to overflowing at every session.

Tuesday Session.

At the opening of court Tuesday morning Attorney Sharp of state counsel announced that they had three or four witnesses yet to testify, but that they had not appeared. If they arrived, Sharp said, the state wished the opportunity to put them on the stand and until that time the state rested.

Only one witness testified for the defense and he was placed on the stand in an effort to refute the statements made Monday by John T. Fortson, foreman of the October 1927, grand jury. Mr. Fortson testified he might have said something about the "bootleggers seem to have it in for the county attorney," but that if he did say it he had no recollection of it. Mr. Fortson admitted he might have said it and said he "would not deny it." The defense witness was C. J. Woods, who was on the stand several days ago. Mr. Woods was a member of the same grand jury, he said; and declared that Fortson said in substance the "bootleggers think the county attorney is too vigorous in his prosecution." Mr. Woods further stated that somebody remarked "Woods might get shot in the back by his enemies."

At this point Dick Mays produced Golda Fay Smith's statement and read portions of it to the jury. Mays read several other documents to the jury.

Following a short recess W. A. Tarver for the state read to the jury a capias which showed it was issued two months before the grand jury indictments of May and Franklin were returned.

Witnesses Absent.

As other witnesses had not appeared, Judge Ball adjourned until 3 p. m., saying that he would work on his charge in the meantime. When court reconvened, John Sharp said one of their witnesses was in the corridor and ready to testify, but Mays objected, telling the court that he understood the state had rested and that they had sent their witnesses home. The state witness was from Mexia. Mays said, and his witnesses to refute that man's testimony from Mexia had left, therefore he asked the man not be allowed to testify. His contention was sustained by the court after which Judge Ball asked that attorneys go over the charge and make their exceptions in order that a night session might be held and argument begin.

Practically every attorney agreed that they could not get ready for the argument by 7:30, so the judge adjourned until 9 a. m. Wednesday at which time the charge will be delivered to the jury and arguments begin.

Judge Ball stated late today that the amount of time for each side's argument had not been determined, but that he was unwilling to allow more than five hours to a side. It was still believed the case would go to the jury by late Wednesday afternoon or at the night session.

SENATOR FAIRCHILD SERIOUSLY INJURED AUTOMOBILE WRECK

DALLAS, April 18.—(AP)—State Senator I. D. Fairchild of Lufkin, who was injured in an automobile accident near Tyler Monday night, was brought to a hospital here today and treated for broken bones and bruises.

Physicians said that while the Senator's condition was not dangerous, he would be confined to bed for some time. His hip and collar bone were broken, and his pelvis was fractured in several places.

The accident occurred near Tyler, when the automobile in which the Senator was returning to his home at Lufkin from Dallas skidded and overturned on a curve.

Bishop James E. Dickey Dies Following Operation After Appendicitis Attack

LOUISVILLE, Ky, April 18.—(AP)—Bishop James Edward Dickey, 63, who died here last night as a result of an operation for appendicitis, had served Kentucky, Illinois and West Virginia, the eleventh district of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for two years.

He was elected to the Episcopacy in 1922 but served four years in Texas and New Mexico before coming to Louisville. For twenty-one years prior to being made a bishop, he had been connected with Emory College, thirteen years as president.

At Bishop Dickey's bedside were his wife, Mrs. Jessie Monroe Dickey; his son, James E. Dickey, Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. C. E. Boyd, both of Atlanta. Also surviving are three other daughters, Mrs. J. F. Carreker and Mrs. Robert Strickland of Atlanta, and Mrs. Henry H. Jones of Marietta, Ga.

Born in Jeffersonville, Ga., in 1864, Bishop Dickey, the son of a clergyman, was educated at Emory College where he received his first appointment as assistant professor.

A "son of the parsonage" who successively became minister, college president and a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, James Edward Dickey was a staunch fundamentalist and an anti-unificationist.

He was one of five Southern bishops who in 1925 violently opposed the movement to unite the northern and southern organizations of the Methodist Episcopal church. On that occasion he lined up with Bishops Denny, Candler, Ainsworth and Darlington.

Before his elevation to the episcopacy, Bishop Dickey had given to the church 21 years of educational service, including eight as a professor at Emory College and thirteen as president of the same institution.

Bishop Dickey was born at Jeffersonville, Ga., May 11, 1864, the son of Rev. James Madison Dickey, a Methodist clergyman, and Ann Thomas Dickey. He was educated at Emory College, Oxford, Ga., and a few weeks after receiving his degree was admitted to trial in the North Georgia conference. His first appointment was

MILLIONS ARE SET ASIDE FOR RIVERS AND HARBORS WORK

WASHINGTON, April 17.-(AP—Millions of dollars were set aside today by Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, for rivers and harbors improvement during the year beginning July 1. More than $7,000,000 was allotted to the Mississippi river of which 5$4,350,000 will be expended between St. Louis and Minneapolis.

Another large project for which funds were awarded was that on the Delaware river from Philadelphia to the sea, the war department setting aside $2,150,000 for this.

More than $8,600,000 was approved for the Missouri river, $3,000,000 to be spent from Kansas City to the mouth at St. Louis.

The allotments are made from a lump sum appropriation previously provided by congress for that purpose.

Projects in Southern states for which money was set aside include:

Arbitration Treaty Signed With Italy

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP)—Another cog in the machinery being built up by the United States for the pacific settlement of justifiable disputes with other nations was added today when Secretary Kellogg and the Italian ambassador, Nobile Giacomo De Martino, signed a treaty of arbitration.

The treaty will be sent to the senate for ratification. Its text was not made public.

Printer Winner Boston Marathon

BOSTON, April 19.—(AP)—Clarence Demar, the 39-year-old Melrose printer, won the Boston marathon today for the sixth time.

Pressed hard most of the way by Joie Ray, veteran middle distance runner attempting the marathon distance for the first time, Demar ran a heady race and was out ahead all the way after pulling out of the ruck of the 241 starters. His time was 2:37:07:4-5, a new mark for the course, which was made the full Olympic distance for the first time last year.

SEARCH MAINTAINED FOR FIVE PRISONERS WHO ESCAPED JAIL

While only two of the seven prisoners who escaped in the daring jail delivery at the Navarro county jail Monday afternoon at 12:45 o'clock have been recaptured, intensive search is still maintained for those missing by officers of the entire section.

The second man retaken was Carl Clark, who was returned to the county jail Monday night by Deputy Sheriff B. Ray. Ray, who is stationed at Rice, was returning to his home when he was asked for a ride. His suspicons were aroused and he returned to Corsicana with the man where he was identified as Clark.

Officers stated that C. C. Howe, under a 99-year sentence for robbery of the First State Bank of Richland, Oct. 12, in a daring daylight robbery by three men, who was among the escaped prisoners, had often stated that he would make a break for liberty and that if he was cornered would shoot it out with the officers. He is believed to be the prisoner who secured Deputy Sheriff E. W. Warnell's pistol when the delivery was staged.

Warnell Improved.

Mr. Warnell was feeding the prisoners when the break came and he was beaten into insensibility. He was reported somewhat improved Tuesday afternoon although he received severe blows in the fight at the time of the break by the prisoners and was unable to return to his duties in the sheriff's department. Amos Wills was the first prisoner to be captured.

Sheriff W. T. Wilson and Jailer Clyde Wilkes were in Waxahachie at the time of the delivery and immediately left for Corsicana. They met an automobile in Chambers creek bottom in which they recognized Wills. The officers turned around and gave chase, overtaking the car a short distance over in Ellis county.

The prisoners apparently scattered in a number of directions immediately after getting out of jail. Two, one of whom officers said was Howe, commanded an automobile occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Browning near the courthouse. Mr. and Mrs. Browning were forced to drive the two escaping prisoners toward Barry and then doubled back into the Drane road, thence via Bryan school, near Silver City and when they had traveled almost to Navarro Mills, the two men got out of the car and allowed Mr. and Mrs. Browning to return to Corsicana.

Posses Making Search.

Heavily armed posses scoured the entire countryside Monday afternoon and the search is still being carried on. The officers and detectives in the principal cities and many of the smaller places have been notified and descriptions of the men given. Officers traced the two men who commandeered the Browning car to about six or eight miles of Malone where they lost track of them. It is thought that they made their escape out of Malone in a 1928 Ford coupe which was stolen there sometime during the night or early in the morning. The automobile was not missed by the owner until early Tuesday morning.

A number of former officers included Walter Hayes, Harmond Chandler, C. P. Brooks, along with A. R. Mace, chief of police, Mexia; Sheriff McKenzie of Limestone county and other officers patrolled the country Tuesday afternoon. Sheriff W. T. Wilson stated that there had been no new developments in the situation.

Sheriff Wilson stated that the citizenship had been very nice to his department in co-operating in every way possible.

Dale is Witness In Own Behalf

AUSTIN, April 19.—(AP)—F. A. Dale, former solon accused of accepting a bribe, went on the witness stand in his own behalf today and denied that he told W. W. Chamberlin, optometrist lobbyist, that $750 had been offered to secure passage of the bill in which the latter was interested.

Dale said that Chamberlin gave him $1,000 with a statement that it was a "retainer fee for your services." He denied that he was expected to have the bill killed as a result.

Falling Wall Dealt Death and Injury

CHICAGO, April 19 (AP) Two children were killed and nine others injured, six of them seriously, when a brick wall surrounding a school yard on the southwest side collapsed today, burying the children playing near it under a deluge of bricks and mortar.

Scores of children were playing in the school yard shortly before school convened when the wall, apparently weakened by a strong wind, toppled over without warning.

Seven Japanese Children Drowned

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 19.—(AP)—Seven Japanese children were drowned in the Fraser river, south of here last night, when a fishing boat with four adults and twenty-five children came near capsizing while on a short cruise. Thirteen of the children were thrown into the river but six of them were rescued. The bodies of the other seven were recovered. The victims ranged in age from to ten years.

en when it was needed and not delayed, the speaker insisted that the work should start early in the Cradle Roll age by assisting in building up the right atmosphere around the child, and assuring a Christian home for everyone.

Outlining the work of the elementary grades, the speaker pointed out that the cradle roll did its best to give the child a consciousness of God in every day life; the beginners department attempted to give a greater knowledge of Christ; the primary department to win them, and the junior department to further train them.

Work of the young people's and adult departments were discussed by W. A. Harrell, formerly in the Texas work, but now connected with the general board. Announcing that time prohibited a discussion of the home department work, he announced that the first conference on home department methods in Texas was held at the Tuesday session under the leadership of Mrs. Pick Allen.

Sunday Schools Increase.

Quoting numerous figures prepared by the general board, the speaker pointed out that in 81 years the number of Sunday schools had increased 4533 per cent; while the churches were increasing 530 per cent. At present only 18 per cent of the churches are without Sunday schools, and less than 26 per cent of the church membership is not in the Sunday schools.

Great accomplishments have been made but the task is still untouched, according to the speaker, for about ten million people are still prospects for membership, both in church and school. The three-fold purpose behind the agitation for separate departments was named as getting the people into the Sunday schools: winning them to Christ, and then training them for further service.

"Lift Up a Standard for the People," was the subject of Harold E. Ingraham's address at the morning hour. Among the seasons advanced for having standards of work in the Sunday school were the value of Bible study; the value of the friendships and social life gained through the Sunday school; and the spiritual exercise of service.

Among the things that could be done were named the surveying of the field and finding out the possibilities; adjusting the organisation to fit the needs and finding proper quarters; finding places of service for those in school; using the home pepartment to further Bible study, and personal work and visitation to win members.

Woman Makes Address.

"Where Do You Live" was the subject of Mrs. J. M. Dawson of Waco, who made the inspirational address of the morning. Pointing out that it was always important to know where great people lived, the speaker said the question came from God and quoted several passages in support.

She pointed out that the most important question however was not the physical home but how one lived that counted for the most. Using Paul and Nero as illustrations, she asserted that although Paul spent years in dungeons and prisons, while Nero lived in a gilded palace, today men name their sons after Paul and their "hound dogs" after Nero.

Raising the question as to the foundation of life, she queried her listeners as to whether their lives were built on the sand of carelessness or the rock of conviction, insisting thath the Christian worker's life must meet the challenges of the world and reach to the very throne of God.

Scoring the excuse of many teachers that some things were generally accepted as good taste, and because they saw no harm in them, Mrs. Dawson told the convention that conscience could not be depended upon because it would play them false.

One standard was advance by the speaker for the worker, embodied in the statement "Be ye perfect as your father in heaven is perfect." She also scored the complaining christian, saying that she had never found a place for the moaner in the church.

She also took the church as a whole to task because it was neglecting its missionary enterprises, while the members were able to sit in fine churches and ride in fine automobiles.

Dr. Robert G. Lee of Nashville, was the inspirational speaker at the general assembly immediately before the conference periods Thursday afternoon, speaking on the subject "Calvary." He will also be the principal speaker for the closing session Thursday night.

Afternoon Sessions.

Dr. John L. Hill of Nashville, head of the editorial department of the general Sunday school board, delivered his final lecture at the general assembly immediately preceding the departmental conference Wednesday afternoon.

Taking as his subject "The Book," Dr. Hill declared that "the Bible is the supplement to all man's intellectual limitations; and the Book is the light for its own illumination It is a book of knowledge, light and life, and its contents are not debatable."

"The only defense the old Book needs is to be lived, read and propagated; it has been on the firing line long enough to prove its value. It is the stimulus for all men's search for truth.

"The Bible is the embodiment of the greatest literature, history, biography, lyric and rhetoric; and the greatest politician and the greatest lawyer uses the Bible for authority."

Conference Groups.

Following the inspirational address, the assembly was divided into the conference groups, the majority of them being almost doubled in size over the opening day.

In the administration group, H. E. Ingraham spoke on the "Place of Administration. Organization. Grading and Literature in Securing Good Teaching In the Sunday School" Other subjects discussed were "The Bible Plan of Financing Kingdom Work," by L. L. Cooper; "The Teaching Value of the Six-point Record System," by R. A. Springer;" "Getting the Bible Used," by G. S. Murphy; and "Texas' Aim for an Adequate Program of Training in 1928," by M. W. Lanier.

The other groups contained their discussions under the same leaders who presided at the Tuesday session.

Evening Session.

Augmented by approximately 400 delegates from Waxahachie who chartered a special train to make the trip, headed by the Trinity University Band, and several hundred delegates from other points the auditorium was filled long before the opening hour arrived.

After a brief song service under the direction of Robert H. Coleman, it was announced that a simultaneous program would be presented at the First Christian church to care for the overflow crowd, with the same speakers appearing on the program. The second service also reported a packed house for the evening.

President T. L. Holcomb read a message from Dr. George W. Truett, who is conductng a revival meeting in Houston, expressing his best wishes for the convention and expressing his regret that he was unable to attend. The president was authorized to send a message to Dr. Truett wishing him a great meeting, and expressing the appreciation of his interest in this convention.

"Our Intermediates" was the subject of Miss Mary Alice Biby's address Wednesday evening in which she very forcefully and dramatically made an appeal for reaching the chilren from fifteen to eighteen years old.

Parents Sometimes Fail

The speaker asserted that because of the rush of business and the press of social life, the father and mother quite often failed in their parental duty and lost their hold on their boy and girl. The church was also criticised by the speaker because many of the pastors made their effort to reach the adults only and paid little attention to youth, with the result that the boys and girls of this age were left to face their problems alone, and quite often took the wrong path.

She asserted that thousands of boys and girls fifteen and past were emerging from the period of childhood an were entering the age of doubt when the father, mother and church could render aid of vital importance.

"The church needs to teach the Bible so that the boys and girls will know the will of God, and when they know it they will be moved to accept Him," said Miss Biby.

Raising the question as to how the boys and girls could be reached so that they would be willing to let God have His way, Miss Biby insisted that one of the hindrances was the fact that the majority of the churches and members were willing to give of their material means, but failed to give the personal attention that the problem needed.

Co-Operative Effort Needed.

The only solution according to the speaker was co-operative effort on the part of the father and mother in the home, and the assistance of the church in every way possible.

The un-Christian like attitude of many of the church members was also scored by the speaker, who asserted that the boys and girls could not be expected to serve God when their parents were full of worldliness. Miss Biby closed with a stirring challenge to the church to meet the problem of the intermediates in order to save the church of tomorrow.

Mrs. Virgil Reynolds sang "Does Jesus Care," in a very effective way, accompanied by Mr. Reynolds at the piano.

The report of the resolutions committee was presented as special measure because members of the committee were forced to leave the conference early in the evening, and return to their homes.

Rev. M. T. Andrews of Texarkana read the report which was adopted unanimously. The resolutions follow:

I.

Resolved: That the thanks of this body be extended to the First Baptist church of this city and her beloved pastor with his very efficient committees, for the generous hospitality accorded us during this convention; that thanks also be extended to the other churches of the city for the use of their buildings for departmental conference purposes; also to the newspapers, we extend thanks for their pains-taking reports of our sessions; also, to the chamber of commerce and the citizens of Corsicana, at large, for their happy co-operation in handling the entertainment of this convention.

(Signed).

II

Be It Resolved: That this state-wide Baptist Sunday School convention, representing the largest evangelical body of Christians in Texas, hereby express their unfaltering fidelity to the eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States and we re-affirm our confidence in the economic and political soundness of prohibition as a government policy. We deeply deplore the nullification movement as led by those who represent the old anti-prohibition pro-liquor crowd who have fought prohibition to the last ditch for half a century in this country. We declare our purpose to support no man for the high office of the presidency of the United States, who does not unequivocally stand for the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and the laws sustaining it in the several states. We regard it as the height of absurdity to suppose that a man, who is historically and inherently an enemy to the prohibition movement, will ever lend himself to the enforcement of the prohibition laws; and we further declare our belief that the time has come when the merit of the man, rather than the traditional party feeling should govern in the selection of the chief executive of this country. We sincerely implore our political and party leaders to work for the nomination of candidates who will keep this country true to its ideals and save it from the lawless regime of those who would nullify the constitution, the sole protection of life and liberty.

Waxahachie Minister Speaks.

Dr. W. H. McKenzie, pastor at Waxahachie, was second speaker of the evening. The speaker was accompanied to the convention for the evening by about 400 of his members from the neighboring city headed by the Trinity University band.

Discussing briefly his announced subject "The Value of Men in the Sunday School," the speaker asserted that the value of the men could not be estimated, and that he firmly believed that as many men could be enlisted in Sunday schools as there were women and children if as great efforts were put forward to reach the men. He denied the statement that many men believe that religion is a matter for women and children only.

Announcing that he had been permitted to change his subject the speaker then began a short discussion of the needs of motivated service, taking as his subject the words of Christ in the ninth chapter of John's gospel "We Must."

The greatest need of today was termed as the holy urge or the strong motive for Christian service. All of the equipment in the world may be provided for a church or a Sunday school but it will avail nothing unless the teachers and officers are full of the divine urge for service.

Christ Felt He Must Serve.

Taking up the life of Christ, the speaker pointed out a number of things which made Christ feel that He must serve to the best of His ability The first mentioned was His love for God. Dr. McKenzie stated that too many professing Christians today were trying to serve a half dozen gods instead of the One God.

Another reason for the imperative in Christ was pointed out as the love of a lost world. The church today needs an intensifying love for the men and women who are outside the church and away from God.

The third reason for the imperative was assigned as the need for haste. Christ realized that only a short time remained for His work and that it must be completed.

Dallasite Final Speaker.

Dr. W. Marshall Craig of Dallas, pastor of the Gaston Avenue Baptist church, was the final speaker of the evening.

In introducing his subject the speaker pointed out that one note had been the principal theme of every address delivered at the convention, and although there had been several varied subjects, the appeal had been the same and the problem was the same.

Taking as his subject "The King's Business," the speaker pointed out that the world is now in an age of big business that is incomparable to any other age in the history of mankind, and that in such an age people should realize that the biggest business that could be attempted was the spreading of the word of God.

"There is a work for everyone and God has called us to it," Dr. Craig declared. Continuing he pointed out that Christ had a work that needed to be completed with haste because His time was limited, and the speaker asserted that today an hour can be of inestimable value in God's work.

The supreme business of the Christ was the proclaiming of the gospel and the same task challenges the world today on a greater scale than anyone has ever dreamed. With many means of preaching and spreading the gospel, every Christian has an opportunity to serve.

Sole Business of Church.

The sole business of the church is proclaiming of the gospel, asserted the speaker, although some churches allow other things to creep into their programs. Taking up the criticism of the church which is prevalent today, the speaker inquired as to what was right in the church, and asserted that the word of God, and the training and study in ways of proclaiming that word were right.

Among the ailments of the church were mentioned lack of funds, workers, zeal, lack of knowledge and worldliness. The speaker insisted that a great spiritual growth was the primary need of the church everywhere, and when that growth was attained many problems would be solved

The church has many of the material things today, but the call of Christ is for prayer and consecration, according to Dr. Craig. The church is obligated to spread the gospel, and every member of the church has his individual obligation and responsibility, from which there is no escape. The only escape from the chaos of worldliness today is Christ.

"The church needs a re-kindling of the missionary fires today, so that we may attempt our tasks with an intense earnestness for the time is short, heroically for the way is hard and there are many obstacles, and fully surrendered so that we may carry out the will of God in full," the speaker concluded.

murder Birger was sentenced to hang, was shot down by two youthful brothers on his own doorstep. One of them, Elmo Thomasson, died in the bombing of "Shady Rest," Birger's fortified cabin in the woods to which was attached a notorious reputation as a gangster rendezvous. The other brother, Harry, believing that Birger had bombed his own cabin to kill Elmo, readily confessed his share in the slaying and implicated Birger. He said Birger paid him $50 for each shot which entered Adams' body.

Ray Hyland and Art Newman also were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment, while Birger was ordered to the scaffold.

Dr. Frank Crane is Defendant in Suit

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 19.—(AP)—Dr. Frank Crane, newspaper writer and his son, James, were named defendants in a suit for $986 here yesterday by F. L. Gonder, who alleges young Crane crashed into and heavily damaged his motor truck while speeding at 60 miles an hour and on the wrong side of the street on January 17. Gonder states he was forced to jump from his truck to escape injury, while young Crane was injured so seriously he was taken to a hospital for treatment.

The suit charged that police found two bottles of liquor in the Crane automobile but that no prohibition charges were lodged against the driver.

BERLIN, April 19.—(AP)—A news Agency dispatch today said that a violent snow storm which has been sweeping Poland assumed such dimensions that for the last 24 hours the greater part of Poland has been nowbound.

Rediscount Rates Discussed by Board

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP)—Secretary Mellon said today that the federal reserve board discussed rediscount rates yesterday.

Mr. Mellon, who is ex-officio chairman of the board, presided over the meeting in the absence of Governor Young who is in Florida. The Secretary declined to give any further information concerning the meeting.

Father Bobby Franks Dies in Chicago

CHICAGO, April 19.—(AP)—Jacob Franks, father of Bobby Franks who was kidnapped and slain in 1923 by Nathan Leopold an Richard Loeb, died today at the Drake hotel where the Franks family moved after their son was slain. He had been ill for many months and doctors attributed his illness in part to grief over the death of his son.
